NORTHEAST LOUISIANA'S
Major Center of Activity

Monroe and West Monroe, the Twin Cities of Ouachita parish, serve increasingly as the educational, cultural, sports, amusement and trading center of Northeast Louisiana. Facilities in all these fields have been greatly enlarged in recent years, until today the Twin Cities stand as one of the Mid-South's major centers of activity.

Fear Spreads In Montreal, 2 Attacked

Slasher Still At Large, 13 Total Victims

MONTREAL (AP) — Two more women were attacked last night in a series of razor-slashing incidents that have given Canada's biggest city the jitters.

In the past week, 13 women have been injured. One required 21 stitches. Most of the wounds were minor, however—chiefly cuts on the leg.

Last night's attacks were at opposite ends of the city, at close to the same time. Police speculated there might be two razor wielders at work. Descriptions of the attacker also varied widely.

Fear spread through the city of a million persons. Several schools closed early so children could be home before dusk rush hour. Police got 2,000 phone calls during a three-hour period last night from persons who thought they had seen the slasher.

At least one suspect had been arrested, but police said preliminary questioning indicated he was not the wanted man. They questioned dozens of persons but so far appeared to have no real leads.

A new twist was added last night to the phantom attacks. The man laughed in his victim's face.

Mae Meikle, 21, told police that a man accosted her as she walked along a secluded avenue and told her, "There's blood on your leg."

She said he stood with her a short time, expressing concern, then threw back his head, laughed and ran.

The girl said she thought the man had cut her as she was riding the escalator at a nearby subway station and then followed her into the street.

Usually, however, the slasher has made his attack during a rush hour, then faded away into the crowd or the darkness.

In last night's other attack, a man clamped his hand over the mouth of Marcelle Cusson, 24, as she walked home from work. He gashed her leg, then ran without a word. Ten stitches were required to close the wound.

Burglars Enter 2 West Monroe Business Places

Burglars broke into two West Monroe business establishments during he night, made a futile attempt to enter a safe in one, and took $10 in cash from the other, West Monroe police reported Friday.

Police Officer J. R. Cullipher said D. O. Hogan, owner of Hogan's Grocery at 908 Cypress in West Monroe, reported the first burglary about 6:50 a.m. Friday.

Police and sheriff's deputies called to investigate, learned entrance was gained to the grocery through a ventilator window on the south side of the building.

Cullipher said the burglar apparently scaled the wall, sawed through a bar on the ventilator and squeezed inside.

First indications were that nothing was taken from the store, Cullipher said, but an attempt was made to enter a large square safe in the store. The dial was tampered with, he said, but the burglar failed to open it.

The second burglary occurred at Bayles' Fish Market at 113 South Riverfront sometime between 6:15 a.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. Friday, Cullipher said.

The fish market, which extends over the river bank, was entered through a back screen. About $9 was taken from a cash register in the place, and $1 in coins from a soft drink dispenser, the officer said.

At both places the burglars apparently left the same way they entered, he said.

Jenner Intends Fixing Blame In File Episode

Destruction Of Red Reports In '44 Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) said today the Senate internal security subcommittee will try to fix responsibility for an order which, he said, the White House issued in 1944 for destruction of some naval intelligence files on Communist activities.

This new turn in the Communist-hunting subcommittee's probes was the aftermath of Jenner's account of the episode to a dinner gathering here last night attended by Vice President Nixon and some 400 other guests.

This is how Jenner, the subcommittee chairman, related the story of the files:

They had been built up by a Navy counter-intelligence unit in New York which had an undercover contact in the Communist organization, he said, and "had the basic information on Communists in the maritime units, Communists on the waterfront and Communists in the convoys that went to Russia itself."

Robert Morris, who later became counsel to the internal security subcommittee, in early 1944 was a naval lieutenant attached to the New York counter-intelligence unit.

Victor Kravchenko, an official of the Soviet purchasing commission who broke with his Communist government, sought out Morris to give him information, Jenner said.

However, after one contact, he added, Washington sent orders to

Body Of Pilot Is Found By Posse

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 29—UP—The body of a Naval pilot killed in a plane crash near Lafayette was brought to the Naval Air Station here late Thursday night.

The pilot, identified as Lt. L. R. Miller of Norfolk, Va., had earlier been reported rescued and uninjured in the crash of his Grumman Hellcat.

But a sheriff's posse reaching the scene, on horseback, found the pilot's body about 50 feet from his fighter plane that had plunged tail-deep into the muck of a swamp.

Apparently, the pilot's parachute failed to open in time after he radioed that he was bailing out at 2,400 feet after his plane developed engine trouble.

Coon Protests Discontinuing Low Frequency

A move to discontinue the low-frequency radio range for airplanes at Selman field Friday drew a protest from Mayor John E. Coon, directed to the regional administrator of the Civil Aeronautics Administration at Fort Worth, Tex.

According to Jack Hover, head of the C. A. A. here, the low frequency range is scheduled to be discontinued "within the next two or three months" and a high-frequency range, the omni - radio range, will be used instead for all aircraft.

The move apparently would cost small plane owners not now equipped with the omni - radio range some $600 or $700 for each aircraft, in order to enable them to make instrument flights from this area.

In a letter to L. C. Elliott, of the C. A. A. in Fort Worth, Mayor Coon said:

Liquor Loss In Smashup Is $50,000

Fire of an undetermined origin destroyed approximately $50,000 worth of imported whiskeys and wines early Friday morning after a transport truck turned over on Highway 80 east of Monroe. No one was injured.

The truck, a large van, skidded off the road during the late evening Thursday. The driver, Richard Fernandez of New Orleans, lost control of the vehicle when it hit the shoulder.

The blaze which destroyed the contents of the transport truck occurred around midnight. Engines 105 and 111 from the Monroe fire department were sent to the scene, approximately nine and one - half miles from the city limits, but were unable to save any of the liquors.

The truck and contents were property of Glazier's Wholesale Company of New Orleans. All of the loss was believed to have been covered by insurance.

Ike Appeals For Broader GOP Policies

Uses Lincoln's Words To Back His Philosophy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower says the Republican party must be united on broad political policy and realize—as Abraham Lincoln advised—that "the dogmas of the quiet past are inadequate to the stormy present."

In a Lincoln Day message made public by the White House last night, the President appealed for unity at a time when some GOP Congress members are murmuring that certain phases of the Eisenhower program are too much like the New Deal of the preceding Democratic administrations.

He spoke out at a time, when Senate Republicans are split over basic constitutional policy as pointed up by the controversy over the Bricker amendment on treaty-making powers.

"It is . . . essential," Eisenhower declared, "that the members of a political party—if the party is to be effective—join together to reach a common goal. Unless there is unified support of broad political policy, there is no true political party."

There must be political unity, he added, if our party—the Republican party is successfully to meet the responsibilities of national leadership with which it has been charged by our people."

In talking of his administration's

Counters Molotov Resolution That Would Sit China

BERLIN (AP)—French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault called today for a United Nations disarmament conference provided all hostilities such as the Indo-China war are first ended and aggression outlawed.

The French minister introduced a resolution to that effect in the fifth session of the Big Four Berlin conference. His proposal countered a disarmament conference proposition made yesterday by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Molotov asked the Big Four to sponsor a worldwide disarmament meeting which would include Red China and other states that are not now members of the United Nations.

Raising of the disarmament question apparently stymied for the moment a concerted Western plan to force Russia into considering German unification now. The West, with Secretary Dulles in the chair, had intended to bring up the German question immediately after the session opened.

Word from behind the closed doors of the conference hall, however, was that Molotov immediately took the floor and upset the apple cart. Thereupon, Bidault offered his resolution, calling for an end of hostilities and for condemnation of any encouragement or support of aggression. It presumably was aimed at putting new pressure on the Communist world to end the war in Indo-China.

Bidault did not suggest a date or period of time for the conference. Molotov had proposed that a disarmament meeting be held this year.

The French resolution did specify that the conference should conform to the U.N. General Assembly resolution of Jan. 11, 1952, thus making the U.N. the actual sponsor. That resolution directed the U.N. Disarmament Commission to continue its work on conventional arms and atomic weapons in accordance with previous Assembly decisions.

One of the key sections of Bidault's resolution would put the Big Four on record as "proclaiming that the support and encouragement of aggression must be condemned and banned with the aim of ending all hostilities."

The resolution then would have the four "commit themselves to join their efforts, in the Disarmament Commission of the United Nations, with the aim of reaching . . . substantial agreements which will permit calling a general disarmament conference under conditions favorable to success."

Fudickar Will Run Again For Dist. Attorney

Fred Fudickar, Jr. announced today that he would be a candidate for re-election to the district attorney post of Ouachita and Morehouse parish.

Fudickar said that the announcement of his seeking re-election was not a formal one and that in the near future he would make a formal statement.

The district attorney office for the two parishes is filled once every six years. The election will be held in July of this year.

In July Fudickar will have completed six years as district attorney having been elected in 1948.

Unveiling Of Bipartisan Plan Awaited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders hoped today to unveil a bipartisan substitute for the Bricker amendment which they believe will break the stalemate in the dispute and still preserve the President's powers in foreign affairs.

Republican Leader Knowland of California said he expected to be able to announce details of the much-talked-over treaty curb substitute during the day, although more conferences and more polishing remained.

But Sen. George (D-Ga), who introduced a proposal that became the basis of the bipartisan substitute, said he wasn't quite so confident.

"Somebody always has some other little idea he wants to get in," George said in an interview. "They're still hoping they can get Bricker to agree to something. But I don't think any compromise is possible with John now."

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) himself said yesterday the differences with the administration on his proposal "grow out a fundamentally different philosophy of government."

'Turn On Porch Light Tonight And Help Combat Infantile Paralysis'

"Turn on your porch light and fight infantile paralysis!"

That is the cry going up over the Twin Cities and Ouachita parish tonight when approximately 3,000 women will stage their Mothers' March on Polio from 7 to 8 p.m. tonight. The concentrated drive will be staged in every community and section of the parish and will completely cover every house.

Mrs. Beth Breese, parish chairman, along with the chairmen for the Twin Cities, Mrs. W. W. Stevens of Monroe and Mrs. Bailey Grant of West Monroe, indicated Friday morning that final plans have been made and "everything is in readiness. We will hold the drive regardless of the weather."

The Mothers' March is a concentrated effort of the women of this area and will coincide with the efforts of other mothers throughout the nation. Over the entire country, some 3,000,000 women are expected to participate in the drive.

Standby volunteers will be stationed at the Mothers' March headquarters tonight to aid in the collections. Should any home be missed, persons are urged to telephone the headquarters, at 3-9171, and someone will visit the home.

Promptly at 7 p.m. the starting of the march, sirens from all fire and police units will sound and will continue until the 8 p.m. ending. During that time each home will be visited for the fight against the dreaded disease.

Merchants Set Special Dollar Day Saturday

Leading Monroe merchants will observe a special dollar day Saturday, Dave Silverstein and Maurice Strong, co-chairmen of the retail merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce, announced this morning. The special day will contain some of the "best bargains of the winter period and is coming just before the usual February buying," the chairmen announced.

"This is not an effort to move merchandise, but a sincere old-fashioned dollar day, one that gives the best in bargains and savings. Because of the past pleasant experiences which we have enjoyed with our large buying public, we of the retail division decided to hold the special bargain day", the chairmen stated.

This will be the last dollar day before the spring breaks, it was pointed out, with many of the items to be offered for the last time this season.

The sale is citywide and will last but the one day.

National Official Backs Crippled Children Center

Efforts of the Ouachita unit for Crippled Children (the Easter Seal Society) to set up a rehabilitation center in Monroe today had the commendation of Mrs. Lydia Newton, Chicago, program consultant with the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

Mrs. Newton and Mrs. Jacqueline Leonhard, New Orleans, executive director of the society's Louisiana chapter, this week are holding a series of conferences with leaders in the field of service to the handicapped in the fifth congressional district.

"The interest, sincerity and outright enthusiasm of your Ouachita board members is the best guarantee for the success of this project which will mean so much to your community," Mrs. Newton commented.

"A further guarantee is to be found in the fact that in your planning, you are making the center an active community endeavor, with service, civic and women's groups scheduled to participate in it and sponsor various phases of the work," she told members of the local unit's board. "Still further guarantees are to be found in the fact you have brought into your planning the professionally qualified specialists — your doctors, therapists, nurses — and your other agencies such as those engaged in public health, welfare and education. In so doing, you are avoiding the duplication of services and concentrating on un-met needs. Actually, as soundly as you are planning, there is no reason why your planned center should not serve the entire area. Certainly, it will serve as a guide for other Easter Seal centers in the state."

Reassuring local board members regarding financial support of the project, Mrs. Newton declared, "I would certainly recommend that you more or less 'hitch your wagon to a star.' I'm sure you will find, as we have always found, that your community will support a worthwhile and badly needed project such as this, especially after it is once in operation, and people can see, first - hand, what is being done. Obviously, a physically handicapped child, helped and trained to become a useful and productive citizen, is an asset to the entire community."

Rev. R. L. Ross is chairman of the Ouachita unit and George Fink is chairman of the center's planning committee. Dr. A. Scott Hamilton is chairman of the unit's medical advisory committee.

J. ARTHUR SMITH, SR.

J. Arthur Smith To Be Honored By Day Named For Him

Sunday, January 31, has been designated "J. Arthur Smith, Sr. Day" by the First Presbyterian Church, in honor of its oldest and most highly regarded church member. At eleven o'clock, his fifty years of continuous service as an Elder of the church will be recognized.

Mr. Smith came to Monroe in 1901 and became a member of this church at that time. He was ordained an elder February 13, 1904 and has been active in that capacity ever since. He is now the only Elder Emeritus on the church roll.

He was born June 30, 1870 in Concored, Tenn., and was married to Miss Bessie Fulkerson, October 12, 1898 at Rogersville, Tenn. They have five living children: Mrs. Penelope Matthews, J. Arthur Smith, Jr., and Frank Smith of Monroe; Mrs. Margaret McCord, Kilgore, Tex. and Mrs. Catherine Yates, Tyler, Tex. They have eleven grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Since coming to Monroe, Mr. Smith has been engaged in the mercantile, real estate and life insurance business, and has been prominent in church and civic affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith live at 519 Jackson street.

The public is invited to go to the post homes and have refreshments and inspect the post homes.

All persons who received an honorable lischarge from the armed forces and who are eligible are invited to join the V. F. W. on this day, climaxing the week - long observance of V. F. W. week. At this time all persons taken into the V. F. W. will be in the "commander in chief class" in honor of our national commander, Wayne E. Richards, and will receive an autographed photo of Richards.

Teen-Agers Hunted After Headlights Of Auto Smashed

Monroe police Friday were searching for a gang of teen-agers who shortly before midnight Thursday broke out two headlights on an automobile, then sped off in their own car.

According to officers, Mrs. Walter Holder of 308 Hall reported at 11:50 p.m. Thursday a car load of teenagers had broken the glass in the headlights of a car parked near her house.

Officers sped to the scene but were unable to find the culprits, who Mrs. Holder said had driven off in their own car. She said the teenagers' car did not have a muffler.

The automobile, whose owner was not identified, was a 1949 green Chevrolet, license number Louisiana 54-352-499, police said.

program, he touched obliquely on aspects of it which have brought some criticism within the party ranks, those phases dealing with the government's role in such fields as housing, social security and health.

He said the "mandate" of the people in the 1952 election "requires that we share Lincoln's concern for the proper role of government in helping and protecting all our citizens," and added:

"It was in such concern that there was recently placed before the Congress this administration's program for consideration and translation into law.

"Through our unified action, that program will secure our country against the threats of our time and will be doing for our people those things they cannot well do for themselves."

The Eisenhower Lincoln Day message is in the form of a film recording being made available for party dinners around the country during the next few weeks.

The first such dinner for which the message was provided was held in Providence, R.I., last night. The White House said, "Several hundred" gatherings of the party faithful will hear it."

Eisenhower quoted Lincoln in his second annual message as president:

"The dogmas of the quiet past are inadequate to the stormy present. The occasion is piled high with difficulty and we must rise to the occasion. As our case is new, so we must think anew and act anew."

Associating himself with that philosophy of Lincoln, he then said:

world is new, that the problems world is nef, that the problems each day brings are new. But we also know that, though these tasks are new, the approach to them is still the Lincoln approach.

"To be dedicated to a single purpose—the freedom, strength, prosperity and peace of America —and to strive with all that's in us to advance the welfare of her citizens—that is the forward way we must seek for America.

"That is the legitimate purpose of Lincoln's party—a century ago, today and always."

through your administration's drive toward economy you have plans to discontinue the low - frequency range station now serving Selman field.

"I have been urged by many of the users of our municipal airport to ask that you give this move your consideration from every angle before you take definite action. Many of the planes that use this field are not equipped for high frequency reception.

"I will certainly appreciate you giving this matter every consideration."

The letter was signed by Mayor Coon.

Hover, in explaining the scheduled C. A. A. action Friday morning, said at present both the low frequency range and the omni-radio range are in operation at Selman Field.

"Plans at present are that some 64 of the low frequency ranges over the nation will be discontinued as a first step in changing to the better, high frequency omni - radio range, as well as an economy move," he said. "The change here is tentatively set within the next two or three months."

Hover said the discontinuation of the low frequency range will make it difficu't for planes not equipped with the omni-radio range to make instrument flights, since the beams are not interchangeable.

Owners of small aircraft, in order to make instrument flights and be assured of getting in to the base here, will have to change the low frequency to high frequency in their airplanes. He estimated the change would cost approximately $600 to $700 for each plane.

He added that several plane owners here already have the omni-radio range and the change would affect only those who do not already have the sets.

"I understand," he said, "that Southern Airlines does not have the omni-radio range and are protesting the discontinuation of the low frequency range."

"However, the low frequency ranges are on the way out. The omni-radio range does not restrict planes to four courses and are not subject to static, as were the old sets."

Continuing, Jenner said word reached New York that the counter-intelligence unit was to be broken up. Morris went to Washington to protest but, Jenner went on, "within a few days" the members of the unit were scattered "to the four corners of the earth," and the files were ordered destroyed.

Morris was transferred to the headquarters of Adm. Chester Nimitz, commander of the Pacific Fleet.

Jenner said Morris told Nimitz about the breaking up of the intelligence unit and Nimitz took up the matter with Adm. Ernest J. King, then chief of naval operations, when King came to the Pacific on a visit a little later.

Jenner said he got the rest of the story recently from an officer whom he would not name but who was on Nimitz' staff. Jenner continued:

"Nimitz told King what Bob Morris had told him and asked if it could possibly be true that such an incredible order could have been issued. Adm. King replied that it was true.

"'But who,' demanded Adm. Nimitz, 'could possibly have given such an order?' Adm. King replied, "The White House.'"

However, last night Adm. Nimitz said by telephone from his Berkeley, Calif., home, "I have no recollection of the incident at all."

Morris said in an interview he had not previously known of the Nimitz-King conversation described by Jenner. He said the officer who told of it is now an admiral.

The $7.50-a-plate dinner was held in honor of Morris, who resigned as the subcommittee counsel last December to take office as a New York City municipal judge.

Beginning at 10:30 a.m. the Junior Bar Section of the meeting was held with Benjamin C. Bennett, Jr., presiding. Alvin B. Rubin of Baton Rouge and member of the panel of the Junior Bar Conference, American Bar Association, spoke briefly on the "Function and Purpose of the Junior Bar Conference of the ABA."

Sarner's address followed the Junior Bar discussion.

The group adjourned shortly before 12 noon for lunch and resumed the session at 2 p.m. The principal talk slated for the afternoon session was by Don Hyndman, Chicago, Ill., executive assistant to the public relations committee, American Bar Association. The talk was followed by a round table discussion dealing with public relations activities on the local bar level.

From 3:15 until 3:30 p.m. the group held a short coffee break, then reconvened for a short session at which time a panel discussion was featured. Main topic for the discussion was "Unauthorized Practice of Law." In two other speeches, Philip Good of Shreveport talked on "Fees and Law Office Management in Relations Thereto," and Bascom O. Talley, Jr., Bogalusa, discussed "Fees, Minimum and Otherwise." Hayes presided at the session.

A cocktail party and buffet supper will be held at 7 p.m. Friday night at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Malcolm W. Feist, Shreveport, chairman of the committee on legal institutes, will preside at the Saturday morning final session.

Montgomery will call the meeting to order. Judge George W. amendment to the traffic code making the change, and the traffic department has since been preparing to put it into effect, Davis said.

Part two of the council amendment read as follows:

"Be it further ordained that the city council hereby declares that in order to safeguard and protect the children attending Barkdull Faulk school from accidents, it finds and hereby declares that a real emergency exists and that this ordinance shall become effective immediately upon adoption."

Capt. Davis explained that the narrow street on the west side of the school presents a hazardous situation for children before and after school because of the automobiles depositing children there and a one-way street would do much to help the situation.

Both residents of that area and school teachers have agreed the one-way street would be better, he said.

Capt. Davis warned, however, that parking on the school side of Gordon Avenue will still be prohibited during parking hours.

The south side city bus, which travels on Gordon Avenue, will not be changed, the traffic captain explained, since it goes north on Gordon during school hours and goes back south on Lee Avenue.

Area Captain And Workers Named

The area captain and workers for district 6, Mothers' March on Polio, were announced this morning by Mrs. W. W. Stevens, Monroe chairman for the drive, slated to be held tonight. Other workers for the Monroe area were announced yesterday.

RATES TO BE REDUCED

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 29—UP—Railroad rates on brewers rice and screenings in carloads from New Orleans to northern and eastern consuming centers will be reduced effective Feb. 15, the New Orleans Traffic and Transportation Bureau said Thursday. The reduced rates will result in lower rates by two to 11 cents per 100 pounds to consuming centers in Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York. The reductions climaxed a two-year fight by the New Orleans Traffic and Transportation Bureau for "reasonable and competitive" rates on those commodities from New Orleans.

Ike Gets New Adviser In Movie Actor

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP)—A onetime union official and Franklin D. Roosevelt admirer has moved into the White House.

He's been a Republican for years, however, and he's on the employer side of the bargaining table these days. Most people know him best as an actor and television producer. His name is Robert Montgomery.

Reporters noticed the handsome, strikingly well-dressed Montgomery had been around the executive offices quite a bit lately. Yesterday they asked how come and got the answer: he has been given a White House office—but no salary—so he'll be handy to advise President Eisenhower on radio and television techniques.

The Montgomery-to-Washington move didn't surprise the former Hollywood star's friends. Montgomery has been keenly interested in politics for a long time, and was a likely candidate for assistant secretary of the Navy if Thomas E. Dewey had been elected president in 1948.

The new semiofficial job of radio-TV adviser is only part-time for Montgomery. He's continuing to produce his Monday night television drama show "Robert Montgomery Presents." But he spends a lot of time at the White House—Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday this week, for example, even though no major presidential speech is scheduled in the immediate future.

He has advised the President from time to time before this, beginning with his Christmas Eve message to the nation. He directed, in effect, Eisenhower's television chat with the public early this month, and made suggestions for improving delivery of the State of the Union address.

One idea that paid off: raising the President's reading stand a few inches so Eisenhower could see better and the television cameras would pick up more of his face than of his not-very-well-thatched head.

Few people know it but this isn't Montgomery's first White House stint. In 1942, when in the Navy, he supervised installation of a wartime operations room there, and developed a warm admiration for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In his Hollywood days, Montgomery was a leading figure in the AFL Screen Actors Guild and became its president.

Catahoula Parish Man New Head Of Tax Assessors

BATON ROUGE (AP)—J. O. McCuffee of Catahoula Parish is the new president of the Louisiana Tax Assessors Association, succeeding Vernon J. Wilty of Jefferson Parish.

Other officers elected yesterday were Joseph H. duPont, Iberville, vice president; George G. Nelson, Bossier, secretary treasurer, and Bert Coverdale, Ouachita, member of the board of directors.

Lt. Gov. C. E. Barham advised the assessors to meet with their legislators to discuss the state's tax exemption program for new industries. He said many people wanted the law repealed because:

They believe climate, water facilities and labor supply, rather than tax exemption, is the chief inducement for new industries.

Firms that have been in Louisiana 40 or 50 years have to pay while new firms are exempt.

New industries often force local communities to expand local services at the expense of others in the community.

Barham also said he favored continuing the $2,000 homestead exemption on a statewide level, instead of the local control proposed by Gov. Robert Kennon.

The Mothers Are Marching To Victory Tonight

Tonight, throughout the city and over the nation, the mothers will be marching to what might be the final victory over the dread crippler-killer, polio. The march has captured the hearts of all people who have seen the terrible results of polio on the children and also, on the adults.

It has been planned with the precision of a division of infantry going into battle and there have been brigade leaders selected all over town to supervise the march forward.

The American people have generously responded throughout the years of the March of Dimes in a most generous manner. Their response has led to the probable defeat of Polio and only time is now necessary to tell whether or not the virus is actually to be exterminated.

It was this March of Dimes which has resulted in the rehabilitation of countless Americans who otherwise, could never have afforded the excellent care. How many people in this particular community have been overheard to say, "if I only had more money to give to the foundation this year". Those people have been the victims of the scourge or have seen their relatives as the victims. From the time a person falls victim to the minute virus, the foundation steps in and does the rest. It takes complete charge of the situation and relieves the victims of financial worries. Therefore, money in great quantities must be had. It must be had immediately.

The mothers will march tonight and it is hoped that their march will be to victory. Light your lamps in the windows of your homes and give what you possibly can afford to this cause. Do not let the mothers be defeated this evening.

So much depends on their victory.

Perhaps even, your own future.

No Let Up In Carnage

Gradually the nation is becoming aroused over the increasing number of traffic deaths. The toll this year will be approximately 40,000 lives and a million injured, many maimed for life.

This is a tremendous price to pay, even for the benefits which have come with the automobile. National, state and local safety organizations are still applying their best efforts to solve the problem, but with disappointing results.

The situation has become so serious in Missouri that judges in a 19-county area have petitioned the governor to call a special session of the legislature for the purpose of enacting laws limiting the speed of automobiles in the state. It was the considered opinion of the organization that steps should be taken to stop "this carnage on our highways."

No law has been drawn that will force drivers to use common sense and judgment when at the wheel. As long as automobiles are driven a mile a minute or faster the death toll will continue. Less pressure on the throttle is the solution, but laws have been ineffective in inducing drivers to apply this common sense cure for highway carnage.

Take Tip From Rudolph

Rudolph, the reindeer of musical notoriety, had a red nose. It was hardly a mark of distinction, but set him apart from others of his kind much to his embarrassment.

"Just look at poor Rudolph," they must have said. "Isn't it too bad about that terrible nose?"

Denied the counsel of an animal psychiatrist, Rudolph hid his shame as best he could, shunned the company of his fellows, and lived a more or less lonely life.

Then something happened which changed the whole situation. Came Christmas Eve and the going threatened to be rough for Santa Claus. There was a heavy fog, and Santa's sled was not equipped with proper lighting facilities. Remembering Rudolph and his illuminated nose, he sought him out, and begged him to pilot the expedition.

Immediately there came a change of attitude by all the other reindeer, and instead of ointing with scorn they hailed Rudolph as the hero of the day, whose name would go down in history.

It should not be hard to point a moral tead of pointing with scorn they hailed Rudolph found his chance to serve when the time came. So does the average person, regardless of his apparent qualifications. People whose name will never go down in history will be remembered by whatever extent they did their part when called upon.

Telephone Expansion

When this year dawned there were 84,000,000 telephones in the world, of which the United States had 48,000,000. Today the number here exceeds 50,000,000, the 50,000,000th instrument having been installed November 18 for President Eisenhower in the White House.

This country has 30.3 telephones for every 100 persons, an amazing record. In this country the wide distribution of telephones is in marked contrast with that of other countries.

What the A. T. & T. fails to tell in its account of business and visiting made easy by lifting the phone off the hook is the extent of garrulity in these telephone calls. Most, no doubt, are brief and to the point. But when Mrs. B. gets those breakfast dishes done and sits down for a nice chat over the wire with her next-door neighbor, but one, how long does she talk?

There never can be a census of words spoken over the phone, but with roughly 190,000,000 conversations daily in the United States, the number of words reaches astronomical figures.

Here's How I See It

By Henry McLemore

Horns Of A Delemna

If you have ever wondered what a man looks like on the horns of a dilemma, now is your chance to find out.

All you have to do to satisfy your curiosity is to go to Washington and look up your Congressman. He is sitting right up there on the horns and completely unsure as to what to do about it.

His dilemma is whether or not to vote himself the whacking big raise in pay which a presidential commission has suggested that he do. And by whacking I mean just that, the commission having placed its approval on a boost of $12,500 a year, which would lift his salary to $25,000 per.

Even though they don't look and act like it sometimes, Congressmen are human. And being human the thought of that extra chunk of dough makes their eyes gleam, their hearts thump, and their fingers itch. You can rest assured that the married ones have talked about that added $12,500 a hundred times, and between them have spent it on everything from a new kitchen to a mink coat.

This desire for the raise is one horn they're perched on — that plus the fact that all they have to do to get it is to vote for the bill when it comes up.

The other horn — and it's a sharp one, brother—is their worry about how their constituents will take this big-hearted, open-handed, financial pat on the back by themselves. The Congressmen are not at all sure that all their constituents, especially the ones who haven't gotten their free seeds as yet, those whose baby wasn't kissed at the last election, or the ones who got ptomaine at the barbecue or fish fry, will take this big bite with a smile.

The press, for the most part, has been very sympathetic toward the idea of the Congressmen voting a new lining for their wallets, and some commentators have gone so far as to support them with the slightly cock-eyed argument that if Stan Musial, a baseball player, is worth $80,000 a year, and Marilyn Monroe, an actress, can get a four-figure salary each week, then the men who make the laws deserve the same sort of pay.

Musial isn't just a baseball player—he is the best baseball player. And Miss Monroe's four-figure salary is based on a figure that is the best. All baseball players don't make Musial's salary, or even a fortieth of it per annum, and the average pay for all the actors and actresses in the country last year was around $800.

I am quite sure that there are Congressmen whose ability makes them worth almost any salary, but I am equally as sure that there are quite a few who'd be overpaid if all they got was railroad fare to Washington and the price of a haircut once a month.

If you should happen to ask me what I would do about the raise if I were a Congressman, I most surely would answer that I would be up bright and early the morning the bill was to be introduced so that I would have extra time to gargle. I would want a strong, ringing set of vocal chords when I started yelling "Aye." I would probably carry a megaphone, too.

It isn't often that a man has the chance to better his savings account by more than ten grand a year simply by saying yes. A man who would let that opportunity slip by has no business helping govern a two-fish aquarium, much less the United States.

If my Congressman doesn't vote himself the dough, then I'm going to vote for the Know-Nothing candidate next time in the hope of getting a more mature mind.

Braden Was Guilty

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic Jan. 28—Spruille Braden, formerly a Hicogalorum in the Latin American phase of our State Department, has recently damned the Communists in the department. But the Dominican government insists that Braden himself was a belligerent friend of Red nations and assorted conspirators in the Caribbean. It is a confusing situation, but there is no doubt that Rafael Trujillo holds Braden guilty of scheming against this anti-Communist fortress.

"Trujillo's position is set forth in angry language in many Dominican documents which recount one attempt by a "Caribbean Legion" to invade this republic in force by landing craft and airpower from Cuba, and another invasion from Red Guatemala by American surplus war planes, which was shot to pieces by Dominican forces. Trujillo lays stress on the fact that his Red enemies and Dominican exiles could get abundant American surplus war stuff while Braden made it impossible for him to buy any.

These incidents of warfare were sketchily reported at the time. And a desultory and probably biased running account of the "diplomacy" appeared in our papers and pro-Communist propaganda weeklies. But, as a reader of more-than-average voracity, I freely admit that I had only a foggy idea of the facts and their meaning until I came here a month ago. So it occurs to me that the American people are almost utterly ignorant of an evil activity armed with weapons and aided by political collusion from the United States.

In contrast to Braden's recent statement before the internal security committee of the Senate that he had been frustrated by State Department Reds, the Dominican government says flatly that on Dec. 28, 1945, Braden refused to grant a license to buy a quantity of arms. The Dominican ambassador of that time, Emilio Garcia Godoy, now the ambassador to Spain, wrote that Braden's refusal was "laden with abusive interpretation." Concurrently, the ambassador says in an official Dominican publication, a campaign "of vilification" in the press of Havana, Caracas and Red Guatemala, "coincided with another one carried out in Washington and New York dailies and magazines by left-wing writers who were reported to be close friends of Braden."

The ambassador says he snarled back at Braden in the meeting in Braden's office at the State Department, rejecting Braden's "boxing-glove diplomacy," a reference to Braden's reputation as an athlete. It seems he played water polo at Yale.

Nowadays, Braden says we must "clean house" in the State Department to assist the Latin American anti-Reds, of whom Trujillo certainly is the most aggressive and the strongest in the military sense. But the Dominicans charge that he worked in close harmony with an influential employee at the State Department who had been a colonel of the Red Spanish Republican Army. The Dominican documents name this party as Gustavo Duran, and Senator Joe McCarthy has sent me sworn testimony taken by the Tydings committee some years ago in which McCarthy thoroughly canvassed Duran's career. McCarthy put these rhetorical questions to Tydings:

"What was the mysterious power which enabled him (Duran) to continue to serve as confidential assistant to Braden, then head of the department's South American affairs? Why was this man permitted voluntarily to resign in the face of these charges? Who has gotten him the important task of going to the UN and screening refugees coming into this nation?"

McCarthy introduced a "confidential intelligence report" from Col. Wendell G. Johnson, the American Military Attache in Madrid, on June 4, 1946, which said as follows:

"The Causa General (General judicial proceedings) has information about the crimes committed under the command of Duran's 'Choca' (illegal prison). He was one of the principal leaders of the popular Militia created by the Communists. He was a personal friend of Lister and Modesto (commanders of Red Brigades, now generals in the Russian Army) and soon became Lieut-Colonel in the 'Red' Army, when the international brigades were brought into the Madrid and Aranjuez fronts, Gustavo Duran formed part of the high Russian general staff at Tarancon where they left sad and hideous recollections. After Tarancon it appears that he went to Moscow. It appears that he is now in Washington as a collaborator with Spruille Braden, chief of a section of the State Department."

McCarthy then said Braden was Duran's "champion," and introduced a memo from Braden dated Havana, where he was ambassador, Dec. 21, 1943, in which Braden said Duran had been recommended to him by a friend of "unimpeachable patriotism and integrity" to spy on "Falangist" activities in Cuba, whose government was then and still is pro-Red. "Falangist" means, among other things, anti-Communist. McCarthy said he had a report that Duran was a brother-in-law of Michael Straight, the millionaire publisher of the New Republic, of which Bubblehead Wallace was editor for a couple of years.

McCarthy writes me that he has a photograph of Duran in the uniform of an officer of the S.I.M., which was the intelligence agency of the loyalists in Spain. He writes that Duran now admits being connected with S.I.M. during that war.

The Dominican documents charge that Duran made two trips from Cuba into this republic and stayed at the American embassy with Ellis O. Briggs, the ambassador, a close political companion of Braden.

A Dominican diplomat was sent to Havana in October, 1944 to attend the Presidential inauguration. He wrote in blunt, undiplomatic languate that at a luncheon in Havana, Briggs, the amabassador to the Dominican republican, made ill advised remarks which reflected his animus toward Santo Domingo.'

A few days later, Trujillo called Briggs before him. Briggs denied having made such remarks, but Trujillo bawled him out for meddling in the republic's domestic affairs.

I cannot profess to evaluate all this, but certainly Braden's current opposition to Reds does not harmonize with the Dominican government's official documents and McCarthy's exhibits in the records of the Tydings inquiry.

Washington Report

Congressmen, Judges Need More Compensation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28—A member of Congress or a Federal District judge is a highly important person in our form of government. He helps to shape policies and decisions having vital effects on the life and well-being of every American.

We would be infinitely better off as a nation if we recognized this fact and set salary scales for our legislators and judiciary accordingly. In view of their importance, we certainly do not want these positions so circumscribed incomewise that they would be sought or accepted only by persons with outside income, or those whose capabilities are not sufficient to enable them to earn that much in private enterprise.

That is exactly what is happening under present salary scales. Judges are leaving the bench and returning to private law practices because they cannot care for their families in a manner they deem proper on a District Court salary of $15,000. Members of Congress, paid a $12,500 salary, are retiring from the political arena for the same reason.

This is the problem that was uppermost in the collective mind of the 18-member special Commission on Judicial and Congressional Salaries when it recently submitted its report recommending substantial pay increases for these two branches of our government.

It proposed that the salaries of members of Congress and of lower Federal Court judges be raised to $27,500. Salaries of Federal Courts of Appeals judges would go from $17,500 to $30,500, Supreme Court justices from $25,000 to $39,500. The Vice President's expense allowance would be increased, because his official and social responsibilities have "multiplied astronomically."

To the low-income American struggling to make his hourly wages cover the bare necessities of life for himself and his family, these present salaries in themselves appear astronomical. He regards $12,500 as an astronomical figure to be yearned for but rarely achieved, or even approached.

Yet to a person of the stature which should be commanded by a member of Congress or a Federal District judge, $12,500 or $15,000 in this day and age is a low income. They see friends and acquaintances in private business enterprises, of a comparable social and educational status, earning thousands of dollars more and enjoying the benefits of those added dollars.

A congressman also receives, in addition to his salary, $2,500 a year as an expense allowance. This makes his income even more desirable to our average hourly-wage worker. But consider:

1. Most congressmen must maintain two residences, one in their home district and one in Washington. No one can argue against the costliness of this practice.

2. Congressional allowances cover the cost of only one round trip annually between Washington and the legislator's home district. Most members make several trips home each year, and would be severely criticized by their constituents if they failed to do so. It may cost a legislator from the West up to $300 or $400 per trip.

3. Substantial sums must be spent in caring for constituents coming to Washington on business or vacation trips. If Joe Doakes, a block or precinct party worker back home, comes to the capital on a vacation trip with his family, he probably visits his congressman, whom he has met at party rallies once or twice; usually, he expects the congressman to at least take him to lunch in the House restaurant. This becomes an expensive proposition.

Judges, of course, do not bear these added financial burdens; neither do they receive the added $2,500. But judges as a group are expected to be several cuts above the average; a Federal judgeship is supposed to be a reward for distinguished work as a practicing attorney.

What kind of reward is it to ask an individual who has achieved success and recognition in the legal field, and is earning $20,000, $30,000, $50,000 or even more per year, to don the robes of a Federal judge at $15,000 of $17,500? Not much.

The Yalta Betrayal

By Felix Wittmer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The News-Star is printing in serial form, "The Yalta Betrayal" by Dr. Felix Wittmer. Dr. Wittmer, in his book, brings out facts concerning the Yalta episode which have never been brought to the public eye. For his efforts, his book has received few if any reviews and there has been a determined effort to keep it from the public. "The Yalta Betrayal" is a dramatic history of an American catastrophy.)

Ding-Dong Show To Quiet Doubts

Churchill's words had caused him anguish, on December 16, 1944, less than two months before the Yalta Conference opened. Couldn't the old P.M. ever adjust himself to the new times? Was it really necessary to have told the world the day before that His Majesty's Government still recognized the Polish government in London as the government of Poland, "as we have done since they reached our shores in the early part of this war"?

The President had been frightened then. What if Stalin took up the challenge and told Churchill off before the whole world? The chasm between East and West would be unbridgeable. Yalta would be off . . . would collapse like the proverbial house of cards, before it was even started.

Immediately, on that same December 16, Roosevelt had implored the Marshal-Tovarisch to refrain from any public commitment with the Lublin Poles. The tovarisch had taken his time in answering. Was that romantic wooer Roosevelt getting cagy? Was he getting fussy? Was he writhing under the grip which had been tightened ever since Teheran?

On December 27, 1944, Kremlin Joe deigned to suggest to the impatient capitalist world reformer that he might as well mind his own business. The Groton graduate who had pursued the love of the "Man of Steel" with everything he—and his nation—had, felt dismayed. Was the ground slipping away from under his feet? Was he sinking into a morass of Soviet deceit and trickery and cynical laughter? Had he heard shrieks? Were those the shrieks of the millions of individuals—every one with a soul which the Atlantic Charter was supposed to protect—who were to be cast before the idol of the robot state, as a gesture of good will, a sort of offering, twentieth-century style?

Roosevelt did not wait eleven days to dispatch his reply. On December 29, 1944, in one of his ever less frequent moments of clarity of mind, he sent another missive to Joseph Vissarionovich Stalin. He had felt hurt by the brusque message, he told the diplomatic bride-to-be with whom, symbolically, he was to middle-aisle it at Yalta. The message had "disturbed and deeply disappointed him."

As a reply to that frustrated lover's groaning and whining, the government of the U. S. S. R. ushered in the Year of Yalta by announcing, on January 5, 1945, that the provisional government of Poland, with which it had dealt de facto ever since its birth, was now officially recognized. Let Roosevelt make the best of it. Wouldn't he ever grow up? What else did he expect, considering that the Lublin stooges had been handpicked by the Politburo in the first place?

All of that, let us bear in mind, had happened before the Yalta Conference took place. When, on February 12, the Yalta Declaration was made public, the Lublin puppet boys grew uneasy. Why should their provisional government "be recognized on a broader democratic basis?" Was the West going to play any tricks on them? But Stalin, who had gone through the motions of the mariage de convenance at Yalta, calmed the tovarisches of the Lublin "people's democracy" by entrusting his crony and personal representative, Nikolai A. Bulganin, with a special message.

"The Yalta Declaration," Bulganin told the Lublin stooges on February 17, 1945 (less than a week after it was signed), "is a scrap of paper. . . . You will be the Government of Poland, no matter how those elections turn out and whatever might happen in the meantime. Be steadfast and have faith in Stalin!"

At about this time, on February 13, 1945, Professor Arthur Upham Pope, a vice-chairman of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship and a perennial booster of the Soviet causes, in the Daily Worker (p. 7), indicated the right "line" by calling the Polish government in London a group of "reactionaries" and exhorting the future Fifth Amendment Americans to back the Lublinites. The crypto-Communists and other worshipers of "dialetic materialism" in the editorial offices of hundreds of respectable newspapers knew where to look for their cues.

On the same day, February 13, 1945, Senator Elbert D. Thomas (Democrat, Utah), referring to the publication of the Yalta Declaration, exclaimed: "Mark this day down as one of the great days of world history." The Honorable Warren R. Austin (Republican, Vermont), who, significantly, was later to represent us at the United Nations, said of Yalta: "It's the answer to a prayer."

But on February 24, 1945, in violation of the Yalta pact — which had been signed on February 11— the U. S. S. R. indicated her unwillingness to co-operate in the Allied Control Councils in Bulgaria, Hungary, and Roumania, and on February 27, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, in another violation of the Yalta pact, insisted by an official demarche that King Michael of Roumania substitute Communists and Communist tools for certain members of his cabinet. Despite these Soviet manifestations of contempt for the agreements which had been signed at the Crimea Conference, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, on March 1, 1945, told a joint session of Congress that "more than ever before, the major Allies are closely united." It must be left to each one of us to conjecture how the President might have felt when our "bipartisan" Congress wildly cheered his optimistic pronunciamento.

Shoe Shine Boys Start New Business

NEW YORK — Since the parking meters were installed on Third Avenue the shoe-shine boys have a new field of activity and business is brisk. They charge 50 cents an hour to watch the meters for "customers" and drop in another coin when the time runs out. Fifty cents an hour! I can remember when that was a good wage for the head of a family.

Were I the commercial lensman, Valentine Sarra, I'd live in fear of being clubbed into oblivion by the umbrella of any one of a host of ladies. He lists models this way: from 24 to 28 years they are automatically "young mothers;" from 28 to 32, "older mothers," and any lady beyond 32 is a "matron." Boy, oh boy, wait until the gals catch onto that sort of labeling!

Bibelots: Useless fact — The Hendryx Bird Cage company is located on New Haven's Audubon street. . . . The constant demand in the advertising agency business for everything to be done the "day before yesterday," has prompted a new slogan in one firm, a slogan it'd better not let the clients hear: "There's never time to do it right. But there's always time to do it over." . . . The only clock in town that runs backwards, I'll wager, is the one in Pat Moriarty's tavern in East Fifty-first street. It's opposite the mahogany and when viewed in the huge mirror appears perfectly normal. However, more than one patron, not knowing its purpose, has looked its reversed numerals and oddly rotating hands squarely in the eye and had a nasty start. . . . Will Rogers, Jr., has his own prescription for confidence: "Some peope seem to get it from havin' a gun in their hand and some, like me, from bein' plain ignorant!" Sounds a little like one of the quips that might have been made by his Old Man. . . . And I like George Bernard Shaw's self-flattery, at which he had more than passing ability. "I often quote myself; it adds spice to the conversation."

Fluoridation

How Fluoride Is Added To Water

(The process of adding fluoride to water supplies is described in this ninth in a series of articles published by the News-Star, in cooperation with the State Health Department. The series is designed to present the facts about fluoridation to the people of Monroe.)

With a little training any water works operator can master the mechanics of controlled water fluoridation, a public health measure which reduces tooth decay rates by as much as 65 per cent.

The process consists of pumping tiny amounts of fluoride into a community water supply and using a simple test to make sure the water always contains the proper quantity of the chemical. Science has established this quantity as one drop of fluoride for every million drops of water. Since many water supplies already contain some fluoride, each community must determine the exact amount needed to bring the fluoride-content of its drinking water up to the recommended level.

This can be determined with the help of the State Health Department, which also will guide the community in selecting the most suitable type of fluoride compounds as well as the most practical kind of fluoridation equipment. The State Health Department will train water works operators in how to handle the compound, add it to the water, and test for fluoride content.

Sodium fluoride is the compound most often used. The other types are sodium silicofluoride, cheapest of the three, and hydrofluosilicic acid.

Fluoride is fed into the water supply by a mechanical feeder, often the same type long used in feeding chlorine and other chemicals into water supplies. Most communities of under 20,000 people use solution feeders, small accurate pumps that deliver a measured quantity of fluoride solution during a specified time. Dry feeders, which measure and add the compound, a white powder, are usually recommended for the large towns.

A typical community of 10,000, with no natural fluoride in its drinking water, needs to add only 20 pounds of sodium fluoride daily, or 14 pounds of sodium silicofluoride.

The job of adding the fluoride takes very little time. In most small towns the water works operator can do it in less than 15 minutes a day.

In some small towns, the operator's fluoridation equipment consists of a scale, an earthenware crock, a sugar scoop, and a mechanical feeder about the size of a typewriter. In some places, the operator weighs and adds the fluoride to the right amount of water in the crock. This solution is then pumped into the water supply by a mechanical feeder.

The State Health Department can advise a community on the proper point in the distribution system at which the fluoride should be added — often a reservoir or the output side of a pump.

Standard tests have been developed to make sure the fluoride is maintained at the correct level. These consist of adding a color indicator to water samples taken from the distribution system and matching the color of the samples with the color of standards containing known amounts of fluoride. These daily tests require only a few minutes of the operator's time. At regular intervals he sends water samples to the State Health Department for a double check.

(Tomorrow: The safety of the fluoridation process.)

After champagne is bottled, it develops an unpleasant sediment which is removed by collecting it in the neck of the bottle and then freezing the wine in the neck, removing the cork and part of the frozen wine and then replacing the cork.

Country Club Scene Of Scout Dinner

Attended by representatives of Civic Clubs and other youth-serving groups as well as leaders, troop committee members and parents of Scouts, the Girl Scout Council's Annual Meeting was held Tuesday evening at Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Honored on this occasion was the Business and Professional Women's Club, which during the past year had built a cabin at Pine Wood, the Girl Scout troop camp. A Certificate of Appreciation from the Council, enclosed in a hand-tooled leather folder bearing the club insigne, was presented the club by Mrs. N. L. Huckabee a member of the Camp Committee of the Council. Mrs. Ruth Cooley, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club, accepted the Certificate and introduced the members of the club present.

"Under the Green Umbrella", the theme of the program was carried out on the Council's annual report and in the decorations. Standing under a large, green-covered umbrella, six Girl Scouts reported in their own words the happenings of the past year that particularly affected the girls.

"What Five Years in Girl Scouting Has Meant to Me", was given by Clair Solomon of Troop 11, Mary Jo Strausser of Troop 34 told of activities in the International Friendship field, including the current project, "Kits for Korea".

Day Camping was described by Ginger Dean of Troop 55 and Troop Camping at Pine Wood by Lynne Lewis of Troop 10, who stated that 319 girls and 70 adults had been troop camping in 1953. Summer Program was ably handled by Mary Martin of Troop 31, who told of her own experiences in cooking and swimming classes.

Connie Wheeler of Troop 11 paid a sincere tribute to leaders of troops, asking all leaders present to stand while a chorus of Scouts sang an original tribute written by Mrs. Harold Breard, program chairman. The chorus, made up of Sue Grower, Marie Nelson, Shirley Crow, Juliana Hales, Jo Lockhart and Judith Harrison of Troop 4, also sang at other appropriate times during the program.

Mrs. Robert Easterling, herself a Scout of many years standing, presented five-year pins to Mrs. R. H. Hofler, Mrs. Dick Dean, Mrs. Leon Noland, Jr. and Mrs. Harrell Webster and a ten-year pin to Mrs. W. T. Davis, leader of one of Monroe's first troops, and registered continuously since that time. Mrs. Davis then presented a twenty-year pin to Miss Annis Klie, executive director of the local council, who began her Scouting experience as a lone troop and has served in many other capacities as volunteer and professional since that time.

Mrs. Ferrell Adams, member of the training committee, accored recognition to those who had completed training courses during the past year.

Mrs. J. N. Riddle, local council member and also a member of the Regional Committee, Region V, told of progress being made toward area organization and indroduced the out-of-town guests.

Mrs. William Roy, president, introduced members of the local council. The committee on arrangements for the dinner consisted of Mrs. T. F. Wilson, Mrs. Harold Breard, Mrs. R. E. Harrell, Mrs. W. H. Webster, Mrs. J. E. Wheeler, Mrs. N. L. Huckabee and Mrs. Dee Strickland. Other members of the council are: Mrs. Ivy Faulk, Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Mrs. S. C. Strausser, Mrs. W. D. Bates, Mrs. B. O. Yeldell, Mrs. J. N. Riddle, Mrs. George Forman and Mrs. George Fink. Newly elected members of the council are: Mrs. Jamar Adcock, Mrs. E. J. Pohlman, Jr., Mrs. J. W. Womack, Mrs. Lucien Branch, Mrs. Harry Spence and Mrs. Shelby Meek.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

Judy Caraway is back on the working list for this play, "Be Your Age." She has volunteered to help with the properties. . . . Town and Country Garden Club will decorate the lobby of the playhouse. This is one of the details of production that theater-goers always look forward to. Mrs. David I. Garrett, Jr. is president of the Town and Country Garden Club. . . . Had an interesting chat with Little Theatre president Julius Cahn yesterday, at lunch time. He has thrown away his crutches and will move back to his bachelor apartment this week end. He has been enjoying a nice long visit with Joe and Harriet Kern. . . . We find the list of people who attended the Ballet Theatre in Ruston this week growing and growing. Add to that list Little Theatre members Fleta and Billy Latham, Arthur and Ruth McKnight, Barbara Addison and Wilma Nolan. . . . All the members of the cast of "Be Your Age" will be rehearsing this week end, including a Saturday night rehearsal. Gee! It looks like the guys and dolls of this production strictly aim for you to put this production on the top of your "must see list."

Little Theatre Sketch

GERRY KENNY . . . who is making her first Little Theatre appearance in one of the leading roles of "Be Your Age," is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Kenny. She is a very attractive junior at Ouachita Parish High School, where she is a member of the dramatic club and was in a one act play this year called "A Question of Figures."

Gerry is also a member of the famed O. P. H. S. choir, who have recently been invited for the second time to the International Music festival to be held in Llangolwn, Wales.

She attended grade school at Rosenthal in Alexandria, La. and junior high in Greenwood, Miss. before coming to O. P. H. S. She also studied dancing for eight years under Anna Richard and Millie Veranitis of Alexandria.

Unless the future holds promise of a career on the stage or in T. V., Gerry will probably attend Northeastern State College to major in dental hygiene. She is one of the few people we know of who has a scrap book that is kept up-to-date.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: Last week I went to a wedding shower the end of which turned out to be a party as a group of boys came. I was introduced to one boy who took care of me all evening. The truth of the matter is I had a few drinks too many "just to be sociable." I have never done this before in my life. Other times I accepted one drink and made it last all night. Now, I know that I fell in love with this boy but do not know how I can face him as he must have the wrong impression of me. How can I let him know I am not that kind of a girl? He was a perfect gentleman and is the only boy I have ever cared for so much; other boys seem to be out for one thing.—D. I.

Sorry; first impressions are lasting ones. You will have to wrangle many dates from the boy so that you can convince him over a long period of time that you are not an habitual imbiber of bottled cheer. Incidentally, don't be too disappointed when you find out you are not in love with the boy after all. You were looking at life through several cocktail glasses and the vision and emotions are apt to be distorted. Much better to see and face life as it is. Then you won't be in for too many disappointments, hangovers and headaches.

Dear Mrs. Landers: What can we parents do to curb smoking among our teen-agers? We have laws in all states that prohibit sales of tobacco in any form to persons under 18, yet most dealers ignore this.—J. P G.,

(Enjoy your fine column every day.)

Don't blame the dealers, all they can do is guess at a youngster's age. Try it sometime and see how wrong you can be. Curbing smoking or drinking must be done at home. Then you won't have teen-agers dickering for liquor or tobacco. How? Tell your teen-agers that there isn't one good reason for anyone to smoke or to start smoking; that it is a habit that is difficult to break, injurious to their health, expensive, dirty . . . and one that any fool can adopt. Show them it takes a smart boy or girl to resist. How parents—mothers especially—can expect teen-agers—daughters especially—not to start smoking when they themselves are reaching for tobacco in some form constantly is beyond me. You can teach more by example than by any other method.

(Thank you. I enjoy writing it for you.)

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am 19 and have been dating a girl of 17 for eight months. Lately, every time we go out she brings her girl friend along. I had been teaching them both to drive but certainly don't expect to date both of them on date nights! She says she cannot go unless she has her friend with her. I love her very much. Please advise me.—R. T.

You have for yourself a girl who thinks more of her girl friend than she does of you. She is seeing that her friend is not left out on a date night. Tell her that you love her but not two of her and that you will speak to her parents and ask them to allow her to date you without her shadow. She probably will head you off from that interview and either date you alone or break up with you. You should find out one way or the other. Why waste your time and money and let the girl make a fool of you?

Dear Mrs. Landers: Why do girls go "stag" to a dance, stand on the edge of the floor and refuse (100 per cent), sometimes with cruel rudeness, an all-out polite request for a whirl around the floor? It can't be my age (34) or my slight baldness as I have seen really sharp fellows receive the same the same treatment. I wind up the evening sitting for a smoke alone and then off and early to bed. I honestly ask for no more than a good time, a few laughs and little company . . . and no strings. My wallet is plump but seems to be good only for more clothes.—B.

Aw-w-w; now I DO feel sorry for you. But, if you are sincere in wanting only a good whirl around the floor (Willie), why don't you look back of the girls who are standing on the edge of the floor and pick a few of the wallflowers? They can dance, too, or they wouldn't be there. And they won't refuse you. Better still, bring your own girl that you meet elsewhere (clubs, night school, etc., etc.) to the dance.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the News-Star.)

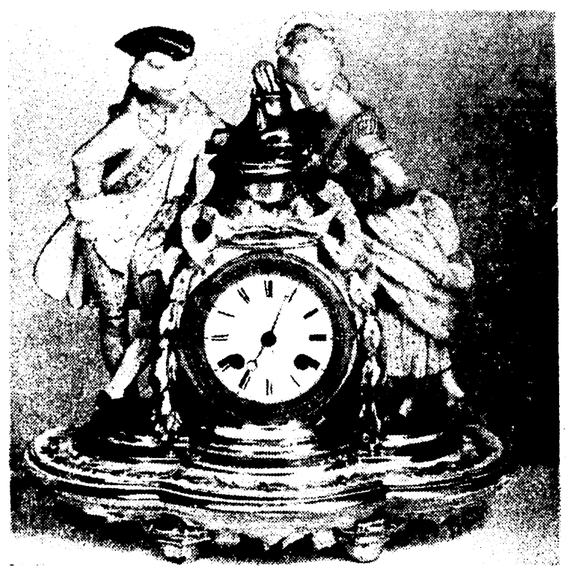
CLOCK OPERATED BY FIRE—The sixteenth century fire clock shown here is one of the 35 valuable timepieces which go on exhibition Monday at the Palace on DeSiard Street. The fire clock, used extensively in Germany 400 years ago, contains oil which, as it is consumed, records the hour on a metal band.



CLOCK TRIMMED IN GOLD—This delicate French porcelain timepiece, trimmed in pure gold, will be among the $650,000 display of clocks to be shown here at the Palace Monday. Movement of this clock, signed by Rollin of Paris, is bell-chiming and strikes the hour and half-hour.

Rare Clocks Valued At $650,000 Coming Here

An exhibition of rare clocks valued at a total of $650,000 will be held here Monday morning on the first floor of the Palace, it was announced here Friday.

The 35 clocks include such masterpieces as a 17th century timepiece run by fire, a French tea time clock, a very early portable clock, a "skeleton" clock, the smallest pendulum clock in the world, and a massive gilded Louis XVI clock, considered the most valuable in the terms of human lives.

Owned by the Old Charter Distillery Co. of Louisville, Ky., the clocks are insured for the sum of $650,000, but their sentimental and historical value cannot begin to be covered by that figure, according to reports.

The fire, or lamp, clock and a 1680 version of a water clock date back to ancient times. The fire clock, which goes back to about 1580, operates on the principal of the perpetually burning cigar lighters in old time tobacco shops.

Another clock, made in 1942 by Bernard Goldstein, famous American watchmaker, is reported to be the smallest clock in the world and took three years to complete. It is smaller than a man's thumbnail.

The exhibition, which should be of especial interest to those interested in timepieces or antiques, will be shown by Miss Kay Bardsley of New York, director of the display, which is now on tour of the major cities.

Miss Bardsley will explain the exhibition and the workings of the various timepieces to exhibition visitors.

One of the most valuable of the clocks, according to Miss Bardsley, is an Italian wood clock, made entirely of wood. Although the case and dial are 300 years old, the original clockworks have not survived.

The public is invited to attend the exhibition.

Anti-Trust Probes Being Conducted Into Newspaper, Advertising Fields

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—Asst. U. S. Atty. Gen. Stanley M. Barnes said today that the Justice Department has launched twin investigations of advertising activities and newspaper groups.

Barnes, who heads the department's anti-trust division, declined to be more specific but said:

"It is purely a preliminary investigation."

The Washington Post reported today that a wide-scale probe had been launched of advertising and publishing associations to see if their practices violate the Sherman anti-trust act.

The Post said it had learned the investigation appeared to center in New York and Chicago and that its scope includes advertising rates ir newspapers and other publication, advertising commissions and practices concerning recognition of advertising agencies by publishing associations.

Barnes spoke today at the 77th annual meeting of the New York State Bar Assn.

Afterward a newsman asked him if an investigation was under way in respect to the 'newspaper and advertising business.

"There is an investigation on that has to do with certain aspects of newspaper publishing," he said.

"It has not yet progressed into a full-scale investigation and there has not yet been any determination or any grand jury action. I can't say what it is about, except to say that it exists."

He said the investigation was the outgrowth of complaints received by the Justice Department but would not state their source.

When he was asked if advertising associations were involved, Barnes replied that "very frequently one investigation runs over into another investigation."

He said an investigation of advertising activities was under way and that it had "overlapped" an investigation of newspaper groups.

Asked if all newspapers throughout the country were being investigated, he said:

"It's a broad investigation and not limited to any one area."

Barnes declined to name any groups or associations but said Elisha Hanson, a Washington attorney for several publishers' associations, had conferred with him in connection with the investigation.

Hanson is general counsel for the American Newspaper Publishers' Assn. George C. Biggers, president of Atlanta Newspapers, Inc., which publishes the Journal and Constitution, is the ANPA president, and Cranston Williams is its general manager.

The Washington Post said the ANPA, which recognizes 947 advertising agencies in 45 states, Hawaii and Canada, has been asked to make its files available to Justice Department investigators, as have other groups.

The Post said ANPA spokesman told Barnes that no one had authority to open the files without a direct order from the board of directors, which meets next Feb. 9

Williams, in New York, confirmed the Washington Post story but said he could not comment further before the board's meeting.

In Atlanta, Biggers said: "As president at the ANPA, I have no knowledge of our association having maintained any practices that violate the Sherman anti-trust act.

"I am aware that the Department of Justice is investigating advertising and publishing associations and the ANPA is one of them. The next meeting of the board of the ANPA will be held in New York Feb. 9-10, at which time we will discuss this matter and a more complete statement can be made after the board has had a chance to act."

The Washington Post's account said the ANPA spokesman pointed out to Barnes that the Federal Trade Commission conducted an extensive investigation of the association's practices in the '20s, and that the proceedings were dismissed in Jan. 1930, with a finding that there had been no violation of law.

"The ANPA was reported further to have told Barnes its practices had not changed materially since that time," the Post story continued.

"It further was reported that Barnes had held informally that the Trade Commission action was no bar to the Justice Department probe and had indicated he might resort to grand jury proceedings in an effort to make available ANPA files unless the inquiry as pursued elsewhere demonstrated there was no reason to press the ANPA."

90 Students Graduate At La. Tech Commencement

RUSTON, Jan. 29 (Special)—Dr. Joe J. Mickle, president of Centenary College, was the commencement speaker at the graduation exercises for 90 Louisiana Polytechnic Institute seniors here Wednesday night.

Dr. Mickle compared the graduates with baseball players rounding the bases, and discussed the "broader horizons of 1954" that are confronting them

Mickle pointed out through the use of simile that the students finisning their college work had reached graduation in one of two ways: through hard work, or in "getting by" one way or another.

"However you got here, you are going to find that the world you face demands the best you have to offer," he said.

Out of the 90 seniors, 21 received academic honors, eight graduating with general honors, and 13 with departmental honors.

Those graduating with honors included:

General honors of magna cum laude, Billy Max Davis, Dubach; Claudette Schroeder Hagle, Shreveport; Patsy Ruth Hollis, Bernice; Elizabeth Ann McKinley, 104 Rochelle, Monroe; Melba Odom Thompson, Ruston. Those finishing with cum laude honors were Katie Irene Fallin, Choudrant; Edward V. Finuf, Shreveport, and Mavis Malloy, Athens.

No students were graduated with the highest general honors of summa cum laude.

General honors at Tech, based on academic averages of 2.0 for a "B" to 3.0 for an "A", range as follows: 2.2 to 2.6, cum laude; 2.6 to 2.9, magna cum laude, and 2.9 or above, summa cum laude.

Departmental honors for maintaining high averages in their respective departments went to:

Walter Bison, Jr., Keithville, agricultural engineering; Billy Max Davis, Dubach, forestry; Mary Janice Dennis, Jonesboro, secretarial science; Katie Irene Fallin, Choudrant, political science; Edward V. Finuf, Shreveport, zoology: Claudette Schroder Hagle, Shreveport, botany.

Lafayette Man To Be Sentenced For Cattle Smuggling

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Alphe A. Broussard of Lafayette, La., will be sentenced March 1 on charges of smuggling cattle valued at more than $500,000.

Broussard pleaded guilty yesterday to smuggling 69 head of rare Charolaise cattle from Mexico to Louisiana by way of Texas. Federal Judge Ben Rice Jr., deferred sentence.

Broussard faces a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment or a $10,000 fine or both on the first count, and two years or $5,000 or both on the next eight counts.

The tenth round, which deals with alleged conspiracy to illegally import 11 head of cattle could carry a fine equal to the appraised value of the cattle, estimated at $100,000, or a five-year sentence or both.

Trial date for William Babb of El Paso, who pleaded innocent on all 10 counts of the indictment, was not set.

U. S. authorities have tried unsuccessfully to extradite another man charged in the case. He is Antonio Enrique Gilly of Atlixco, Mex., a Mexican national charged with selling the cattle to Broussard. He was reported to be in Paris.

Efforts to extradite Gilly have failed.

Charolaise cattle, a large, white breed similar in conformation to the shorthorn, were imported to Mexico from France in 1930. The breed is considered a fine beef producer and is adaptable to the hot coastal climate because it has sweat glands like the Brahma.

District Attorney Charles Herring said the Agriculture and Treasury Departments will determine disposition of the cattle, now under guard by federal officers. The herd has increased to 80 head.

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 29 —(UP)— Constant hiccoughing kept Pope Pius XII awake most of the night and the pontiff said the early morning mass 30 minutes later than usual.

Potent Trade Lure Dangled In Eyes Of West Nations

BERLIN, Jan. 29—(UP)— Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov has extended an unusually warm invitation to the West to "normalize" East-West trade.

That is a potent lure to several western nations looking hungrily at the prospects of profitable markets east of the Iron Curtain.

But it is equally true that the Soviet Union needs and wants the consumer goods of the West to enable the new regime of Premier Georgi Malenkov to make good on its promises of a more abundant life for the peoples of Russia and the restive populations of some of its satellite countries.

In the lobbies of the eastern and western press headquarters here, Soviet spokesmen are emphasizing what they describe as "the extreme importance" of Molotov's bid for trade.

They point out that the Russian phrase he used "dobro pozhalovati" is the friendliest possible equivalent of "you are welcome" and may be taken most literally by representatives of any foreign trading organizations wishing to visit Moscow.

More is certain to be heard about East-West trade as the conference progresses. For there is no doubting the imperative necessity to the Soviet bloc of mass imports from the West.

The Kremlin has committed itself so deeply to a policy of increasing the flow of consumer goods to its own people and to its satellites that it cannot await fulfillment of domestic economic plans.

Last year, with the start of this new post-Stalin program, official reports show that Moscow appropriated at least $1 billion for consumer goods imports, one third of which was spent in capitalist countries.

The Kremlin has reversed the economic policy under which Czech Communist Rodolf Slansky and several subordinates were tried and executed for "treason" in part at least on basis of having promoted trade with the West.

Since that time, the Russians have signed trade agreements with roughly a dozen western countries and they now are widely publicizing the presence in Moscow of a French trade mission and a British private delegation.

Fauntleroy Rites Set Saturday In Peters' Chapel

Another old time former resident of Monroe, Mrs. C. E. Fauntleroy, died in Houston, Tex., in the home of her daughter and son - in - law, Mr. and Mrs William Symons, late Wednesday. The body will arrive here Friday and the funeral will be held in the Peters Funeral chapel Saturday at 11 a. m. Dr. H. L. Johns, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will officiate. Interment will be in Hasley Cemetery.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Fauntleroy were well known in Monroe. He owned a large plantation and dairy south of the city on the Columbia road, and was interested in civic affairs of the city. His death occurred about 12 years ago.

Mrs. Fauntleroy is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Symons, of Houston; three sisters, Mrs. Fred Meyer, and Mrs. W. L. Herbert, Monroe; and Mrs. Louis Kimple, Dallas, Tex.; a brother, John C. Halsell, West Monroe; and two grandchildren.

Sentence For Contempt To Take Awhile

EL PASO, Jan. 29 UP — Federal Judge R. E. Thomason indicated Thursday it would be sometime before he sentences a New Mexico dude ranch operator for contempt of court.

The rancher, Craig Vincent of Taos, was cited for contempt in a preliminary to the trial of Clinton Jencks earlier this month on charges he falsified an anti - Communist affidavit.

Thomason earlier had set Thursday to Vincent's sentencing, but Thomason said he needed more time to study the question. It was believed he might be checking with the department of justice in Washington.

Vincent was subpoenaed as a government witness for Jenck's trail, and ordered to produce the guest register for his dude ranch for a period when Jencks and a number of other leftwing labor leaders allegedly were guests.

At the preliminary hearing Vincent refused to produce the register or answer any questions on grounds that his answers might be self incriminating.

Baby Takes Biggest Chance Of All In Illegal Adoptions

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 —UP— Everybody takes a chance in an illegal baby adoption, but the one with the most at stake in the gamble is the baby.

Adoptions are for the benefit of the child, social workers and legal authorities emphasize. The casual exchange of money and babies in black market rings results in many stories of disrupted lives never known outside a small circle of family and friends.

Twenty per cent of the independently-placed babies were taken out of their adoptive homes before final adoption papers were approved, a California citizens' committee reported recently after a three-year study of state adoption problems. This compared to less than 1 per cent of such babies when placements were made by agencies.

These figures can't begin to show the unsuccessful baby placements that never reach official records, since the figures are based on cases where adoption petitions were filed in courts.

In other cases that never reach court rooms adoptive parents have changed their minds about wanting the child or the baby has turned out to be mentally or physically handicapped.

A beautiful baby girl two months old currently occupies one of the cribs in a New York adoption agency. She has fair skin and reddish-brown hair. Any couple anxious for a child would consider themselves lucky to get the baby.

The agency's records show the baby's father was of one race, her mother of another. Careless practices by black market baby rings could easily result in adoption without any knowledge of the mixed blood.

One New York couple happily paid the black market price for a two-weeks old infant who looked healthy and normal. In a few months they realized the baby was blind.

Unfortunate adoptions which get the most public attention are those where the mother changes her mind and finally goes to court to demand the return of her baby.

"I have helped several girls get their babies back," said Mrs. Helen Butenweiser, "In most cases, it is unfortunate for the couple who has hoped to adopt the baby, but the law protects the rights of the mother."

"One girl came to me because the baby's father, a soldier who had gone overseas and hadn't been told the girl was pregnant, found out through a friend and wrote that he wanted to marry her so they could keep the child.

"The girl had agreed to give up the baby long before he was born, since she was desperate for help to get her through the pregnancy and found a doctor who had arranged many such adoptions.

"We filed a writ of habeas corpus and got the baby back when he was six months old. The girl and the soldier married and are happy. In this case, the losers were the two who hoped to adopt the baby."

Mrs. Butenweiser thinks all adoptions should go through agencies, "even when a girl wants to place her child with her best friend."

Sheriff Learns Hoover Regard For Reporters

Sheriff Bailey Grant has been "charged, tried and convicted" for "depriving a newspaperman of his civil rights and means of earning a livelihood," according to an admission by the sheriff himself.

The case came to light in West Monroe yesterday although it transpired several months ago while the sheriff was attending an F.B.I. school in Washington. The sheriff made a "full confession" yesterday in an address before the West Monroe Kiwanis club.

Grant explained:

In a replica of a murder investigation, part of the regular training course at the F.B.I. academy, the visit to the "murder" scene was staffed by a "newspaperman," one like the Ouachita parish sheriff had never contended with.

Grant said the reporter "could ask more questions... ." Grant declared, in a typical statement, the reporter "got under my skin."

In that particular "murder case' Grant played the part of police chief in charge of the investigation. So, he ordered the newsman gagged and "handcuffed to a tree—well, out of questioning range."

With all the evidence in on the murder case, the guilty party brought to justice and jailed, J. Edgar Hoover's boys swooped down on the "police chief (Grant)" and brought him to justice for violating the reporter's civil rights and interfering with his means of making a livelihood.

That's what the sheriff said.

In another phase of his speech, Grant extended "my sincere thanks to the taxpayers for the $986 it cost them during my trip to the F.B.I. academy."

Grant said the course was tough but valuable to law enforcement.

CATTLE SMUGGLING TRIAL SET

AUSTIN, Jan. 29 —UP—Alphe A. Broussard, Lafayette, La., pleaded guilty Thursday to conspiring to smuggle a herd of rare French Charolaise cattle into the United States from Mexico. William L. Babb, Waco, Tex., pleaded innocent, and Federal Judge Ben H. Rice Jr. set his trial for Feb. 15. Broussard will be sentenced March 1.

The population of the Corn Islands, a possession of the United States in the Caribbean, is 1,304.

Study Asked In Tax Exemptions For New Firms

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 29 (AP) — Lt. Gov. C. E. Barham told the annual convention of Louisiana assessors tonight to get together with their lawmakers and discuss the "wisdom" of the state's 10-year tax exemption program for new industries.

"Many people think this law should be repealed," Barham said, "because they believe new industries are attracted by Louisiana's climate, water facilities and labor supply rather than the exemption."

Barham said another objection is that new industries are exempt from property taxes for 10 years while old established firms "that have been in Louisiana 40 or 50 years have to pay."

Also, he added, new industries often force local communities to expand local services "and others in the community have to pay for them."

J. O. McGuffee of Catahoula Parish was elected association president, succeeding Vernon J. Wilty of Jefferson Parish.

Other officers elected at the closing session included Joseph H. Dupont, Iberville, vice president; George G. Nelson, Bossier, secretary-treasurer; and Bert Coverdale, Ouachita, member of the board of directors.

Barham told the assessors he favored continuing the $2,000 homestead exemption on a statewide level, instead of the local control proposed by Gov. Robert Kennon.

Kennon's plan is for the state to abandon the property tax field, turning it over to the parishes.

Barham said this plan would result in homestead exemptions varying greatly from parish to parish, and in his opinion, would be unfair.

Huckaby Seeks To Keep City's Ditches Clean

Commissioner of Streets and Parks Wayne Huckaby is trying an experiment to obtain the cooperation of Monroe residents in keeping street-side ditches clean of debris.

As quickly as street crews clean clogged and debris strewn ditches, the foreman of the crew distributes letters from Commissioner Huckaby to each resident of the street. The letters are addressed "To the Citizens and Property Owners of this Street and Block."

"The City of Monroe has just completed cleaning the ditch in front of your hose," the letter states. "This work should improve the drainage and sanitary conditions and should make the street a better place on which to live."

The letter points out that Monroe has over 300 miles of road-side ditches, and that it is impossible for the city alone to keep them clean and free of trash and rubbish. Two suggestions are offered as a guide for citizen cooperation. They are as follow:

"1. Do not throw or permit anyone to throw trash or rubbish into the ditch. In fact, the laws of Monroe and the State of Louisiana provide a penalty for stopping up the ditches and gutters on public streets.

"Do not drive or park vehicles in or across the ditches without providing the proper bridge or culvert. The laws also provide penalties for violations of this nature."

In conclusion the letter requests residents to "please help your city, yourself, and your neighbors by keeping this ditch clean. Do not be a litter bug!"

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off

1. WHAT YEAR OF MARRIED LIFE IS MORE LIKELY TO END IN DIVORCE? YOUR OPINION ——— 1-29-54
2. WHAT IS THE BEST SIGN OF AN EDUCATED MAN? YOUR OPINION
3. DOES CONSTANT CHANGE MEAN SCIENCE IS WRONG? YES ☐ NO ☐

Answer to Question No. 1

1. The first year, when about one-third of all divorces take place. It takes ten years to make up the other two thirds. Very few occur after that. Our booklet, "How To Pick A Mate," by marriage counselor Clifford Adams, if followed would prevent many divorces. Sent at cost, 15c (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. According to the late E. L. Thorndike, one "who knows when not to think for himself and when to hire a wiser man to think for him." The man who diagnoses himself or his business troubles or the voter who doesn't listen to both sides are half - educated men. And, Thorndike added, "The half-educated man is more dangerous than the ignorant. One thinks he knows; the other knows he doesn't know.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No. That it's progressing. Peter Finley Dunne's "Mr. Dooley" said, "In every book of ackerate information they put a slip that reads: Beginnin' on page wan, and continuin' to the end of the book, change 'is' to 'is not' and 'is not' to 'is'. The scientist who keeps that motto in his head has a brilliant future. I wish I'd put it in all my books.

How to Find Your Happiness Cycle

When should you take your vacation? Or schedule that important conference? Or plan your honeymoon? When you are on the "Up" side of your happiness curve. The booklet, HOW TO FIND YOUR HAPPINESS CYCLE, will help you predict your happiness "highs" and "lows." For your copy send 15 cents (coin only), plus self - addressed, stamped envelope (give name of city and state) to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, care of New-Star.

Susan Ball Tells How It Feels To Be An Amputee

By SUZAN BALL
As Told to Aline Mosby

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 29 —UP— My biggest fear when my right leg was amputated recently was: How was it going to affect other people?

Say you're living alone on a desert island and you have a scar on your face. This probably won't upset you. Our social standards are based on what other people think.

But when you're living in a society, as we all do, your first thought is: What will other people think? Will I be laughed at or pitied? Will anybody want to fall in love with me? Can I keep my job?

The first problem of adjusting is to realize other people don't condemn you. They want to help you. They still love you. If anyone stops loving you because you lose a leg, they aren't worth loving, anyway.

The second thing to understand —and this is the best advice I can give war veterans who lost limbs— is that it depends largely on your own attitude whether people accept you.

If you make people uncomfortable, if you spend the rest of your life moaning about a broken finger nail or a lost arm, they won't want to see you. You must say, "I lost the leg. I've got a wooden leg", and don't make an issue about it. Then people will relax around you.

It's my one and only life, and I don't plan to ruin it with regrets. Self-pity is a waste of valuable time.

At first I wondered if my fiance, actor Dick Long, still would want me. I told him, "I'm certainly not going to marry you now." He said, "This doesn't make any difference to me." Now I know it doesn't.

I didn't lose my job in pictures. I have received more than 1,000 letters, mostly from people who have lost limbs and they are pulling for me.

They have sent me Bibles and other gifts. They aren't repelled by the idea of seeing me on the screen with an artificial leg. In fact, they all say they want to see my next picture, so, you see, I have gained friends.

If regretting the past is more important to a person than peace of mind and a happy life, then that person is narrow and vain.

Most people lose something during their lives. If a girl has an unhappy love affair, she should say, "I've lost him but I learned this and this and I'll go on to find someone else."

I can't change what has happened to me. I am going on to find other things in life, too.

(Next: How Suzan will walk again.)

MARCH SPECIAL SESSION AGREEABLE

AUSTIN, Jan. 29 —UP—Lt. Gov. Ben H. Ramsey said Thursday he agreed with Gov. Allan Shivers that mid-March would be a good date for a special session of the Legislature to deal with the teacher pay problem.

A great variety of Indian races and cultures existed in Texas at the time of the coming of the white man.

Lions Induct 3 New Members

By JOHN L. BOYD
(Lions Club Reporter)

Honoring Lions Club Founders Day and the birthday of Melvin Jones, founder of Lions International, the West Monroe Lions Club inducted six new members into the club last night at the weekly dinner meeting.

Charles G. Wall, Jr., district governor, was the speaker, and he led induction ceremonies for the new members. In his talk, Lion Wall gave a brief history of Lions International and the purposes of this organization. He said that the purpose in the Lions International flag stood for loyalty and that each Lion should be loyal to the club, loyal to the work of the club, loyal to his home, country and God. "It is great to be a Lion," Wall said, "because Lionism was founded upon the Golden Rule."

Lions who were inducted into the club are Copeck Webb, Floyd A. Temple, S. H. Bradley, Drew Lacy, J. L. Morgan, transfer from Bastrop, and Tex R. Kilpatrick, transfer from Farmerville. Each of the members was given a copy of the constitution and by-laws along with their lapel pins.

Lion W. D. Albritton, chairman of the membership committee, was in charge of the program. Lions responsible for bringing new members into the club were awarded with gifts.

Lion Kelly Thompson, chairman of the minstrel to be produced in March, said that Tom Howell, of Emporia, Kansas, will be here in a few weeks to direct the minstrel. Mr. Howell, who is a minstrel producer, has been featured in leading magazines for his outstanding work all over the United States.

Guests of the club were Roy Dahl, Kelly Green, Rev. F. L. Hearne, and F. A. Brown.

Next week's meeting will be a business meeting.

Nine Plead Guilty In State Court

Eight of nine defendants in State cases heard in Monroe City Court yesterday entered pleas of guilty. One person, James Williams, Negro, charged with vagrancy, entered a plea of not guilty, and was acquitted of the charge.

Other cases included Walter K. Long, fined $25 and costs on a charge of reckless operation of a vehicle; Scott D. Andrews, fined $50 and costs for disturbing the peace; Marphy Reed, Negro, $5 and costs, simple obstruction on a highway of commerce; Betty Knox, $25 and costs or 15 days in jail, disturbing the peace and Robert L. Jardan, Negro, 60 days in jail, simple escape.

Other sentences included Woolfin G. Kennedy, Negro, $25 and costs or 15 days, theft; Jessie Fathree, $25 and cost or 15 days, operation of a vehicle without a drivers license, and Jimmy Smith, Negro, $25 and costs or 15 days, reckless driving.

Lack Of Safety 'Wastes Lives,' Wilson Declares

Justin Wilson teller of Cajun jokes by choice and safety engineer by profession, was the guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Monroe Kiwanis club. The meeting was held in the ball room of the Virginia hotel Thursday.

Following the relating of several Cajun jokes, Wilson asked that he "get serious for a minute" to discuss the safety of the roads, the lack of which caused some 39,000 lives during 1953 alone. These lives, he said, were wasted because drivers failed to have the proper "safety education or failed to practice it."

From the beginning of the automotive era, Wilson said, there have been three E's in the safety program. These he listed, in the order of their importance, as engineering, education, and enforcement. This order, the speaker pointed out, was set in earlier years and has since, in his opinion, become reverse "to a degree."

With only two per cent of the 39,000 deaths last year due to engineering failures and the remaining 98 per cent due to the lack of proper education, Wilson said he would revise the order of importance and place the educational phase first. This "education," Wilson asserted, "should start at the top and go down to the bottom, from the judge (traffic judge) through the attorneys straight to the drivers."

The enforcement phase, he said, is "only a means that is used after education. It is not a cure-all."

Wilson urged that the group get behind a safety movement which will feature the educational phase.

More than 90 per cent of the fur and wool used in making hats is produced in Europe. Central America produces most of the straw, while the silk comes almost exclusively from the Orient.

M-G-M Has Had Interesting 30 Years

HOLLYWOOD, January 29 - I have before me 20 pages of the history of MGM, packed with statistics, glamour names and a resume of mile-post pictures marking the days and the years of this fabulous 30-year period. It reads more or less like a filmland Who's Who, and as one picks up the thread of productions, memories of these plays - some of them great plays- revive the years and we follow through from 1924 to 1954.

The history begins in Culver City. Before the advent of the Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer period, it was the Ince studios. The account says the studios today are the hub of the greatest motion picture enterprise since Thomas Alva Edison invented his flickering Kinetoscope, a fascinating city in itself. Born May 17, 1924, the studios grew from 40 acres, six glass stages, and 26 buildings—long since disappeared — to 187 acres, 195 buildings, among these being 30 towering sound proof stages — and on and on with illuminating statistics. In that period MGM has produced more than 1,600 major films. The story says it has discovered and developed more great stars, directors, producers and writers, and has won more Academy Awards than any other studio. And in listing these the claim is advanced that many of them boast story book careers.

What elevated Clark Gable to "one of the great personalities of all time?" It started when he slapped Norma Shearer, a scene that came near to being clipped from the picture. I haven't space enough for all MGM stars of this three - score jubilee cycle, but I'll name a few: The first six, Mae Murray, John Gilbert, Lon Chaney, Lillain Gish, Ramon Novarro and Antonio Moreno. "Ben Hur" was the company's first great production. Then came Joan Crawford — and I name them, past and present — but not in chronological order: Robert Taylor, Gene Kelly, Lana Turner, Ava Gardner, Esther Williams, Elizabeth Taylor, Jane Powell, Lon Chaney, William Haines, Marie Dressler, Lionel Barrymore, Norma Shearer, Greta Garbo, John Barrymore, Wallace Beery, Lewis Stone, Barbara Stanwyck, Fredric March, Walter Pidgeon, Jean Harlow, Greer Garson, Van Johnson, James Stewart, Red Skelton, Debbie Reynolds, Fred Astaire. Sorry, if some deserving names have been omitted.

And the big pictures—and further statistics, without end. The executives, among which the name of Irving Thalberg stands out in bold relief. Yes indeed, this story of MGM is the story of one of the most fabulous industry developments in America — for besides MGM, there are other giants, each with an unbelievable story. Congratulations, Dore Schary, and may your next ten years be bigger than the three preceding decades.

Quotes and Comments: Hollywood Reporter: "Diana Lynn confided that the news of her impending marriage to the Englishman she left behind in London was slightly premature, because he has everything — including a wife." Slight roadblock, I'd say. Liana might look to Hollywood for a few pointers in such circumstances . . . Daily Variety: "Marlon Brando returns to live in style — at the Bel Air. On his first trip to Hollywood he had a room without a shower." Answer: Struggling artist achieves success -and along the way he buried Julius Caesar . . . Bernice Fitzgibbons ad director of Gimbles: "TV commercials are an outrageous interruption of the entertainment which is the primary business of TV. But commercials in newspapers are understood, accepted and welcomed. Indeed, the readers would be furious if they were not there." Right. Newspaper ads never interrupt the continuity of news stories . . . Composer Pete King: "I know a Hollywood couple who, in the middle of a divorce suit, are insisting on the same terms as in a championship prizefight—a return bout within 90 days." Such people are nuts about continued stories . . . Says Jackie Coogan: "In Hollywood a guy is really a success when flattery gives him a headache instead of a big head." Jackie, go to the head of the class.

Idol Chatter: Name, please: It is William Twigg, and he's a branch manager at Warners . . . The 26th annual Academy Award nominations will be announced February 15. More than 13,000 qualified voters will cast ballots . . . A Western Airline hostess is named Shirley Booth — but she's not the Academy Award winner, she admits — with a smile . . . Eddie Foy, Jr., says that every time history repeats itself the prices go up . . . Clifton Webb wore a Japanese kimono and a French beret to a party — but he carried no chopsticks. Well, who can eat octopus soup with chopsticks, anyhow? . . . Lana Turner's hair is back to auburn — from blonde to black, and now on the return trip . . . As I write this, I am informed that Marilyn Monroe has been suspended again by her studio — however, this time as Marilyn DiMaggio . . . Taking to the air: Ty Power has rented a plane for a trip to Mexico City in February . . . Clark Gable says he would like to see some more of the world before he takes roots on an Arizona ranch.

SHORT "CHANGED"

February is the only month that is shorter than the lunar cycle. For this reason, about every six years the month has only three of the four phases. This means, of course, that sometimes February is without a new moon, one of the two quarter phases, or a full moon.

DRAFTEES & VETERANS GUIDE

By MAJOR THOMAS M. NIAL

Can A Man Be Drafted After He Reaches 26?

From L. T. of Upton, Ky.: "I have a boy up for induction next month. He is now 26 but was deferred several times because he was doing farm work. Can a man be drafted after he reaches 26?"

Yes. Any person who has received a deferment from military service is automatically eligible to be drafted until he reaches 35.

From C. L. G. of Fort Slocum, N. Y.: "I'm a draftee due to get out Feb. 11. My wife is expecting Feb. 22. She has been under Army doctor care since she first became pregnant. Will the Army continue to treat her at government expense until the baby is born even though I have been separated?"

Yes. Because your wife was an expectant mother before you were discharged, she will be entitled to Army care until she has the baby. She may get it at an installation near your home or she could remain temporarily at the same base at which you are now stationed. If you return home and your wife has the baby in a civilian hospital, with a civilian doctor attending, you won't be able to claim any of the cost from the government.

From D. M. G. of Birmingham, Ala.: "While I was in the Army I suffered seriously from a nervous disorder brought on by combat missions over Germany. When I was discharged from the Army, the Veterans Administration gave me a 30 per cent disability, and I've been drawing compensation for it ever since. In the past two or three years my condition has got worse and worse. What can I do?"

If you feel your condition has grown worse since last being examined by the VA, all you have to do is request a re-examination. If the examination shows your condition has become worse, the VA will raise your percentage of disability and, thereby, your compensation.

From Mrs. C. M. of Indianapolis, Ind.: "I have been told that the children of men killed in service are entitled to a college education at government expense. Is this true?"

No.

From H. B. H. of Lancaster, Pa.: "I served in the U. S. Army from 1925 until 1928. Am I entitled to hospitalization in a VA hospital?"

Since your service was all during peacetime, you're only entitled to VA hospitalization if you were discharged for a disability incurred in service or are now getting compensation for a service - connected disability.

From a reader in Idaho: "My son-in-law had his National Service Life Insurance made out to his mother during World War II. Since then he's married my daughter but has refused to make her beneficiary. In case of his death would his wife receive any of his service insurance?"

No. As long as the policy lists his mother as beneficiary, his wife will receive none of the insurance. Of course, if his mother dies, the proceeds of the policy will go to the second beneficiary if he's named one.

(You may write Major Nial in care of this newspaper about your service-connected problem. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents in stamps.)

Businessmen Of West Monroe To Host Governor

Gov. Robert F. Kennon will be a guest of the West Monroe Businessmen's Association Tuesday at a luncheon in his honor at The Barn in West Monroe.

Kennon, here in connection with a meeting of the Louisiana State University Alumni Association, will tour civic developments in West Monroe, including the city hall, new West Monroe High School and others.

The tour of West Monroe will follow the luncheon.

The general public has been extended an invitation to be at the governor's luncheon. Kennon will be the featured speaker.

He will also speak Tuesday night at the alumni banquet.

Between his tour of West Monroe and his speech before the alumni, Gov. Kennon will sandwich in a press conference and radio and television interviews.

Persons attending the luncheon in West Monroe may purchase tickets from the West Monroe Businessmen's Association office on Wood street, West Monroe, or contact a member of the WMBA.

Buckley Installed As Real Estate Board President

C. E. Buckley, prominent Monroe real estate broker, was installed as president of the Monroe-West Monroe Real Estate Board last night at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Past president of the board, E. R Breard, expressed his appreciation for the "wonderful cooperation" the board members had shown him during his term of office.

Other officers elected for the 1954 term are: A. J. Lester, vice-president; and Darwin Nichols, secretary-treasurer.

Addressing the country club banquet, President Buckley, recently returned from the National Realtors Convention in Los Angeles, California, expressed optimism for the coming real estate year. He pointed out the need for additional membership to the real estate board as well as the remarkable growth of this organization since its inception in 1948.

E. R. Breard, past president, was presented with a leather desk secretary for his outstanding service. The award read: "In recognition of your untiring efforts in the progress of the Twin-Cities." The award, signed by Richard Hale, general manager of the Monroe News-Star—World Publishing Company, was presented by Mrs. Irene Reid, advertising manager for the papers.

Concluding the meeting, the group voted to contribute $25 to the March of Dimes.

In attendance at the banquet were Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Breard; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Buckley; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Cruse; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Varnado, Winnsboro; Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Hancock, Natchitoches; Mr. and Mrs. George Guerriero; Miss Yvonne Brett; Miss Sara E. Bruno; Bill Bardoff; State Senator Gilbert Faulk; Alan Sugar; E. A. Porter, Jr.; Mrs. Irene Reid; Lynn Heard; Mrs. Blanche Bourland; Mrs. Terece Salley; Darwin Nichols; Mrs. Louise Gilliland, Mrs. Ivy Rayner and Lillian Davis.

West Monroe Kiwanis Induct 3 New Members

The West Monroe Kiwanis club inducted three new members yesterday in the early portion of a regular luncheon meeting at The Barn in West Monroe.

Installed to membership in the club were: Allen Durham, of Firestone in West Monroe; Johnny Richie, of Kilpatrick's Funeral Home in West Monroe and Carey Kirkland, of Weaks Supply Co.

Installation ceremonies were conducted by Cliff Roberts, recent district vice-president of Kiwanis International.

Following the induction, Sheriff Bailey Grant, recent past president of the West Monroe club, gave a talk on his experiences at an F.B.I. school in Washington.

Milk Producers 'Degraded' For 'Watered Milk'

A number of milk producers in this area have been degraded by Ouachita Parish health authorities for producing milk with too high water content, it was reported here last night. Dr. W. Carroll Summer, director of the health unit, verified the report, when he was contacted last night.

According to the report, the licenses of the dairymen have not been suspended, but only "degraded". This means that no Grade A pasteurization plant can accept their milk until the dairymen bring it back up to grade.

Dr. Summer declined to name the dairymen involved, but he said they "can resume selling to the pasteurization plants when they bring their milk back up to proper standards."

BOSTON — UP—A door-to-door canvass for federal income tax delinquents in Massachusetts has produced $1,338,773 since last July. During November, for example, revenue agents found that 1,170 or 14.1 per cent, of the 8,279 taxpayers interviewed had failed to file one or more of the required forms.

Professional Football Clubs Complete Draft Selections

Passers, Rugged Runners, Massive Linemen Firsts

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29 (AP) — Professional football bosses passed up a lot of publicized All-America players to concentrate on passers, rugged runners and massive linemen in the annual "draft" of college talent Thursday.

The Cleveland Browns, already well equipped in the quarterback department, sounded the keynote of the National Football League draft meeting when they selected Stanford's Bobby Garrett as their "bonus" pick.

Then, turning to the annual sorting and selection of college playing talent, the N.F.L. coaches and club owners by their early choices cast a solid vote for Notre Dame and Maryland as the outstanding college teams of 1953.

Although they didn't settle the debate as to which team deserved No. 1 ranking, the draft selectors—who had to weight available talent against what each of their teams need—figured the answers this way:

Three Notre Dame players—tackle Art Hunter, by Green Bay; Halfback Johnny Lattner (Pittsburgh), and fullback Neil Worden (Philadelphia)—were first round draft choices. Center Jim Schrader was picked by Washington in the second round. Back Francis Paterra went to the Chicago Bears and guard Menil Mavraides to Philadelphia in the fourth round.

From Maryland, quarterback Bernie Faloney was the first choice of the San Francisco 49'ers. Halfback Chet "The Jet" Hamulak was drafted by Cleveland in the second round. Back Ralph Felton (drafted by Green Bay and traded to Washington); back Dick Nolan (New York) and back Charley Boxhold (San Francisco) all were chosen in the fourth round.

The Browns, who won almost everything in sight last fall except the league championship, gained another victory when Harold Sauerbrei, their new publicity director, pulled the slip marked "bonus" out of a hat.

"That gave them the right to make one selection before the regular rounds of drafting began. Four other clubs had a chance for that privilege under National League rules, but Pittsburgh, Green Bay, Baltimore and the Chicago Cardinals were shut out until next year when Sauerbrei pulled the right slip in his first official performance for the Browns.

The choice of Garrett, the outstanding college passer of the 1953 season, was in line with the belief of the pro coaches that a first-rate T quarterback is essential in pro football.

The Browns already had Otto Graham and George Ratterman, two of the best quarterbacks in the business. But coach Paul Brown indicated that Garrett could be either "insurance" in case the veteran Graham decides to retire or valuable trading material if Graham continues to play.

Garrett, who is headed for the air force, said he was 'pleased' to have been chosen by the Browns and that he hopes he can play one season before going into service. During the 1953 season he ranked fourth among major college players in total offense, was first in passing with a 57.6 percentage of completions. His passes were good for 1,537 yards.

The first player chosen after Garrett, when the clubs settled down to making their regular selections, was Lamar McHan of Arkansas, who went to the Chicago Cardinals. McHan, one of the top offensive backs in college football last season, is regarded as being especially valuable as an all-around player who does everything well.

Then the Green Bay Packers selected Hunter, the Notre Dame captain, and it wasn't until the sixth regular choice that the Pittsburgh Steelers picked All-American Johnny Lattner. The next All-American name, Don Dohoney of Michigan State, didn't come up until the fifth round of drafting.

Under the draft system the club finishing lowest in the standings for the past season—in this case the Cardinals—gets the first pick and they work from there up to the champions. Each team is given 30 selections.

The task of selecting players this year was complicated somewhat by the fact that more than a dozen of the 1953 college standouts, including such players as All-American Stan Jones of Maryland, Zeke Bratkowski of Georgia and Gene Filipski of Villanova were drafted last year. Some like Minnesota's Paul Giel have indicated that they intend to cast their lot with baseball instead of football. Nevertheless, Giel was drafted by the Bears as their 9th choice.

Under N.F.L. rules, a college player becomes eligible for the draft as soon as the class with which he originally entered college is graduated.

Following Thursday's long session of drafting, the agenda called for voting Friday on some proposed changes in the playing rules and some minor amendments to the constitution and by laws.

In the playing rules, efforts will be made to check unduly rough play, especially piling on a runner who is down but has a chance to get up and advance further, and to rule out fake injuries for the purpose of stopping the clock.

Among players selected in later draft rounds were Max McGee, Tulane back, by Green Bay; Hugh Pepper, Mississippi Southern, by Pittsburgh; Floyd Angely, Arkansas end, by San Francisco; Robert Garlinson, Arkansas tackle, by the Chicago Bears; and Tom Lewis, Alabama back, by the Chicago Cards.

Rebels Drop Double A Tilt To Indians, 43-40

By TED HECKATHORN

The West Monroe Rebels, off on their marksmanship, their fight, and their headwork last night, dropped a Double A basketball tussle to the Fair Park Indians on the West Monroe floor, 43-40. The Fair Park Junior Varsity, in the 7 p.m. preliminary, made it a perfect night for the visitors by defeating the Rebel JV's, 44-39.

Leading at the end of the first quarter, 16-11, after overcoming an 8-1 Fair Park lead, the home five was outscored in the second by four points, but managed to hold a 23-22 lead at intermission.

The visitors had their best quarter after halftime, when they tallied 17 points to West Monroe's nine, and took a 39-32 lead. In the fourth, with less than three minutes to go, and the Rebs still trailing, "Chub" Johnston hit for two long-range net-swishers to cut the Fair Park lead to one point.

With the score 42-41, Fair Park, a minute and a half remaining, the Rebels got possession but went into a deep freeze, trying to work the ball under. The general opinion was that with Johnston and Gary Huckabay, who had already hit for four long shots, apparently "on" with their far-out shooting, the Blue and Gray might have shot for the lead, but a Fair Park interception gave them the ball, and two more points at the free throw line before the final horn sounded.

Huckabay and "Duggo" Fincher played their usual hustling game all the way, with the former coming up with most of the rebounds, and the latter a constant thorn in the Indians' side with his intercepting and scrappy ball-hawking.

Tom Sanders was high-point man for the losers, with 12; and forward Bill Massey, varsity end for the Indians' football team, was game high scorer, with 17.

In the prelim, the West Monroe Junior Varsity led at halftime, 17-16, but fell behind in the third and never caught up. Austin Roberson led the winners' attack, with 18 points; while Bruce Lee had eight for West Monroe.

Newcombe Looks Toward His Last Week With Army

COLONIA, N. J., Jan. 29 (AP)—Don Newcombe is sweating out the final days of a terminal leave before rejoining the Brooklyn Dodgers. The tentative date for his separation from the army is Monday, Feb. 8, at Fort Sam Houston in Texas.

The bulky Negro righthander, a 240-pounder when he entered the army, claims he has trimmed down to "round 220 or 223". He isn't sure how it will affect his pitching.

"I feel a lot better," he said. "If I find it hurts my pitching I always can put five or 10 pounds on real quick."

Dodger fans are sure Newk's effectiveness won't be reduced by melting off a few pounds around the waistline. In fact, most of them always thought he was a little too heavy.

"Only one thing I know about next season," he said. "I'll be in shape. We'll have to wait and see if I can get back in the grove. I did a lot of pitching last year at Fort Sam Houston. We must have played about 150 games. The year before I didn't do hardly any pitching. You know Campy (catcher Roy Campanella) took me on his barnstorming tour after the World Series last fall."

Walter Alston, new Brooklyn manager, is no stranger to Newcombe, who broke into organized baseball with him in 1946 at Nashua, N. H., in the New England League.

"He ought to do all right," said Don. "It will be nice working with him again. We've got a great bunch of fellows who will give him everything they've got."

Newcombe will report at Fort Sam Houston Monday to start his final week in the army. He will join Campanella and Joe Black at Hot Springs, Ark., for some early conditioning soon after.

LaSalle Quintet Hangs Up Victory Over Georgetown

OLLA, La., Jan. 29 (Special)—After trailing by five points at half time, the LaSalle High School Tigers ran wild the second half and soundly whipped the Georgetown boys' team 53 to 38. This was sweet revenge for the LaSalle "five" as Georgetown had previously defeated them three times earlier in the season. This was only Georgetown's second loss of the season, the previous coming at the hands of the undefeated Neville Tigers by the same margin, fifteen points.

It was strictly a team effort on the part of the Tigers as three players led the scoring honors for the game and the other two controlled the backboards and were outstanding on defense. LaSalle's Kent Winberry led the scoring honors for both teams with 16 points, followed closely by Leon Sykes with 14 points and Earl K. Long with 11. Bruce Esters and Douglas Winberry aided the Tiger cause greatly with their rebound and defensive work. Hodges led the Georgetown scoring with 8 points.

LaSalle's record is now 20 victories and four defeats including a perfect 5-won, 0-loss Class A district record.

Gene Sarazen's 67 Takes 1st Round Lead In Senior's

DUNEDIN, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—Playing the brand of golf he did when he won the National Open 32 years ago and again 10 years later, Gene Sarazen Thursday shot a 5-under par 67 to take the lead in the annual senior PGA golf tournament.

Sarazen who lives at Germantown, N. Y., shot rounds of 32 and 35 on the par 35-37 national PGA course.

The Senior pro event is for golfers 50 and above.

One stroke behind at 36-33—69 was Martie Dutra of Los Angeles. Lloyd Gullickson of St. Petersburg shot a 35-35—70 to tie with Al Watrous of Birmingham who posted rounds of 36-34.

Sarazen was superb in every phase of the game. After his long drives he was trying for a birdie with his putts on every green except the 14th and 17th. Several of the putts he missed rimmed the cup.

On the 17th a par 5 hole, Sarazen gained an eagle 3 and on the 14th he overshot his second shot and one-putted for an even par.

Sarazen played the 18 holes in 3 hours 50 minutes compared to 5 hours it took him to play the National Open last summer.

All the leaders shot their best golf on the second nine. Sarazen jumped right in lining up his lead.

Harry Schwab, the defending titlist from Dayton, Ohio, and a three-time senior winner, Eddie Williams of Louisville, were tied for the ninth spot with 73s.

Jock Hutchison of Golf, Ill., now 70 shot a 34-40—74. He is a former senior PGA winner and once won the British Open.

The leading scorers:

Gene Sarazen, 32-35—67

Selvy, Pettit 1-2 In Nation Cage Scoring

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—Furman's Frank Selvy isn't letting up in his bid to retain the national major college basketball scoring title and to push the record up to unprecedented levels, N.C.A.A. service bureau statistics showed Thursday.

Back in action after an examination lay-off, Selvy took right up with a 45-point performance that lifted his average to 38.7 points a game. He took the title last year with 29.5 and that's the record. Louisiana State's tall center Bob Pettit, is second with 34.4 points a game for 12 starts.

Selvy has scored 40 or more points in seven of his 11 games. He has hit 45 or more four times. Pettit has been highest, though, with a 63-point job. In all, there have been 23 instances of 40 point games this season, compared to 22 all last year, and Selvy has announced for nearly one third.

Also near the 30-point level never yet achieved in major competition over a full season are Villanova's Bob Schafer and Oklahoma City's Arnold Short. Schafer, with a 29.1 average for 18 games, has 523 points, the highest total Short has 29.1 in 15 games.

A newcomer to the top ten this week is Jerry Vermillion of Gonzaga, who is in eighth place with 24.8 for 13 games.

Dual State Meet Set For Junction City February 4

JUNCTION CITY, Ark., Jan. 29 (Special)—Eighteen high schools, with several more expected to enter basketball teams this week from Arkansas and Louisiana, will renew an annual, friendly rivalry when the Dual State tourney kicks off Feb. 4 for a three-day run at Junction City Ark., Coach G. H. Smith has announced.

Actually, what with an entry from China (China, Tex., that is) the traditional basketball festival will have a tri-state flavor.

Billie Beeson, coach of Pollock, La., High School's colorful clubs of the past few years, is bringing a small, fast team from Texas this year; a team which is in direct contrast with his team of last season, which featured 6-foot-11 "Loopy" Langston, who is now with Northwestern State.

For the first time in the history of the tournament, basketball fans may be assured of plenty of seats. A new 3,000-seat gym was completed in November. Coaches will have nice, roomy dressing facilities with plenty of individuaal lockers.

From Union parish coaches Ben Carroll and "Lefty" Smith of Bernice, La., have entered their fine ball clubs. The Bernice High School boys have won 19 and dropped eight, while the girls' club has won 25 and lost three.

Over at Spearsville, La., Coach John Archer has been hit with a shortage of material, but has done a good job with what he has. The Spearsville girls probably have the best team in the history of the school. Johnny Emmons has proven to be a capable basketball mentor, as well as baseball manager.

From Linville, La., Coach Graves has entered two very strong teams.

From Union county Arkansas Coach Dudley Huckabee of Norphlet has entered a typical Huckabee sextet, which, is small, fast and has the will to win. The Norphlet High boy's coach, has also entered a rapidly improving quintet.

Strong, Ark. coaches George and George (Mr. and Mrs.) have once again entered their two fine clubs. Traditionally, Strong High School has been a tough contender for both the boys' and girls' first place trophy.

Parkers Chapel, Ark., sporting two hustling ball clubs and a new coach, has once again her two teams.

Smackover, Ark., winner of the 1950 first place trophy, boys' division is expected to enter this week.

From Calhoun county, once again Thornton, Ark. High School winner of the 1953 Dual State affray, boys' division, has once again entered two capable teams.

From Hampton, Ark., a friendly rival of Thornton High, a sextet capable of taking top honors is busy polishing up for their Dual State appearance.

From Drew county, near the Mississippi line, Tillar, Ark., has entered a dark horse sextet.

Back in Louisiana, from Lincoln parish, Coach E. L. Lewis of Dubach has once again his hustling boys' club. Girls' coach, Colvin, has also entered his young team.

Coach Clements of Hico, La., has entered his fine club of big "little men." Coach Clements is also bringing a strong girls' team to the tourney.

It is believed that Coach "Lefty" Garner will enter his fine Ruston, La. High school quintet.

Lisbon, Summerfield, and Homer, are other Louisiana schools entered.

BATON ROUGE, La. — Louisiana State University's basketballers have broken the 100-point mark in three games this year. Their first effort, against Pensacola Navy, netted 109 points; their second, against Louisiana College, 128 points, and their third, against Georgia, was good for an even 100 points.

L. S. U. Five Ends Layoff In Maroon Tilt Saturday

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 29 (Special)—A two-week layoff for Louisiana State's basketeers will come to an abrupt end Saturday night when the Tigers take to the Coliseum hardwood for an S.E.C. argument with the potent Mississippi State Maroons. The Bengals are scheduled to throw out the carpet at 7:45.

The pace will continue Monday night when the high-scoring Johnny Rebs of Ole Miss invade for their first tussle with the Bengals.

Presently undefeated in four conference outings, Coach Harry Rabenhorst's crew will find the sledding a little tougher against their Mississippi neighbors. The Maroons boast one of the top guards in the country in 5-11 Gerald Caveness. Playing in six of the eight State games, Caveness has racked up an impressive 17.1 point per game scoring average. An injured ankle kept him sidelined in two of the Maroons' three losses this year.

Ole Miss will present an even more formidable scoring threat in a pair of sharpshooters who have averaged better than 20 points per game this year. Forward Robert "Cob" Jarvis, who gained All-America mention last year, is currently pacing the Rebel attack with a 21.5 average while center Denver Brackeen, a newcomer to the Rebel lineup, has managed a respectable 20.7 mark. The remainder of the Rebel lineup will be filled with Dugan Abernathy at forward and Ed Steftenagel and Jerry Bynum at guards.

The Tigers, with All-American Bobby Pettit leading the way, have a 10-2 mark in 12 official games this year.

Pettit's 34.4 average is still good enough for second place in the N.C.A.A. standings. His 201 rebounds also ranks high nationally. Second behind Pettit in the L.S.U. scoring derby is forward Don Belcher with a 10.6 average.

Overall, the Bengals have averaged 80.9 points per game while holding the opposition to a 61.8 average.

Coach Rabenhorst will likely start his usual five in an attempt to keep the Bengals' present S.E.C. mark unblemished. Belcher and Ned Clark (7.3) will be at forwards, Pettit at center and Norman (9.7) and Benny McArdle (7.2) at guards.

Cubs' Owner Will Not Sell Despite 1953's 'Red Ink'

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs may be wallowing in red ink as well as the lower National League strata, but owner Phil Wrigley isn't planning to sell out, nor will he try night ball at Wrigley Field as a tonic.

The club Wednesday disclosed a 1953 operating loss of $410,000. However, this reflects farm system maintenance as well as an attendance slump.

And Wrigley said Thursday last year's loss actually could be scaled down to $206,000 by reckoning carry-over reserves and tax refunds.

Wrigley answered a flat an emphatic "no" when asked if he might not be tempted to sell his seventh-place Bruins.

"No, I'm trying to get a winner," said Wrigley. "We released those figures Wednesday, because the public thinks the Cubs make money, win or lose.

"I hope some of the fans will realize that the money they pay at the gate really comes nowhere near matching the money it requires to put a major league team on the field.

"The public gets a tremendous bargain in pro baseball. For every $1, the fan gets $2 worth of entertainment. We couldn't operate on gate receipts alone. The concessions and radio-TV carry much of the load."

How about installing arclights to stimlate attendance? (The Cubs last year drew 763,658 at home, lowest in nine years).

"Night baseball would only be a crutch," Wrigley replied. "What we need is a wining team."

"That's how night baseball started," he continued. "Somebody got the idea it would make lots of money. They turned on the lights, but things were juast as gloomy as they were before for the teams which didn't win."

Wrigley said his organization was "trying desperately to build up a winning team."

"We thought we had a first division contender last spring. But the weather ruined our first road swing. Our players lost the benefits of spring training conditioning and injuries hit us right and left."

Wrigley said the Cubs don't have a single player, who if traded, wouldn't "star for the other club and come back to haunt us."

Sometimes, Wrigley said, you can "buy a spark" and produce a winner. He said the Cub purchase of Dizzy Dean from the St. Louis Cardinals (for $185,000) in 1938 was just such a spark.

"We won the pennant and had one of our best years financially," he said.

"Its not a question of buying a spark now," Wrigley mused, "we need a bonfire."

Collinston Juniors Win Delta Cage Meet

COLLINSTON, La., Jan. 29 (Special)—Coach James Watson's Collinston boys basketball team won the championship of the Delta Junior League Tournament last week end by defeating Bonita, 26-17, in the finals of the event played at Bonita. Collinston, using only five players throughout the tournament, had reached the finals by beating Wilmot, Ark., 39-9.

Newellton Cage Teams Beaten By Natchez Outfits

FERRIDAY, La., Jan. 29 (Special)—Cathedral High's Greenies of Natchez, defeated Newellton High School's Bears 61 to 48 in the city auditorium Tuesday night to complete a sweep of the twin bill that opened with the C.H.S. Hilltoppers winning 41 to 27.

It was the third consecutive victory for the Toppers and the second straight time they played and defeated a Louisiana team under Louisiana rules.

The win was the tenth for the Greenies against three defeats and came with both all-state performers sitting the greatest portion of the game on the bench.

All-state forward Gerald "Toolie" Martello entered the game in the last 45 seconds of play, fired one time and came out with two points, just ahead of the final buzzer. All-state center Joe Smith left early in the game after being slightly shaken up sliding down the ramp under the south goal. He had six points.

Eddie Davis, playing a great game under the basket and as replacement for Smith, led the Greenies with 13 points.

Buddy Palmer, with 12 points, led Newellton.

Mary Joe McKenney led the Toppers with 20 points and Ann Perrit led the Newellton girls with 19 points.

SELECT CIRCLE

BATON ROUGE, La. — Bobby Pettit, Louisiana State's All-American center, is one of the very few collegiate cagers who have broken the 50-point mark three times. His first effort against Georgia in 1952 netted him 50 points, his second, against Louisiana College this year, totaled 60 points, while his third, also against Georgia this year, was good for 57 points.

'Wise Money' Lads Not So Wise After Moore-Maxim Go

By MURRAY ROSE

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—Many members of the "smart money" set smarted Thursday as some light was shed on the weird shifting of odds that went on before Light Heavyweight Champion Archie Moore blasted Joey Maxim and rumors of a "fix" at the same time.

Ringsiders buzzed when word swept through the crowd one hour before fight time that the 2-1 odds favoring the champion had gyrated crazily and Maxim had become a 6-5 favorite.

Only a few weeks ago Moore, who had beaten Joey twice before, was a 3-1 choice. But reports, substantiated by the 37-year-old champion Wednesday night, that Archie was having trouble making weight, dropped the price to 2-1.

Then a flood of money showed for Maxim. Those who know said the cash was being sent in from all parts of the country. The odds went down rapidly and our informant said bookmakers in several cities took the fight "off the boards." That meant they were not taking any more bets on the fight.

And, here's a classic example of how the "angle boys" were outangled. An official who worked the fight told us he was sitting at the ringside when a stranger said to him "the fix is in. Some of the boys have the officials all sewed up."

"I almost laughed out loud," the official who asked that his name not be used said. "I had been told only a few minutes before that I was working the title fight."

Moore, jubilant over his unanimous decision victory, disclosed afterwards that he had not eaten anything solid for three days and that he weighed 180 pounds the morning of the fight.

"I had to run four miles in a rubber suit the morning of the fight to get down to 175 pounds," he said.

That was the most he scaled for any of his three title fights with the 31-year-old Maxim. The win was his most decisive over the former champion. The power-punching Moore knocked Joey down twice with righthand smashes. He couldn't floor Maxim in the first two fights.

Happy over his one-sided triumph, Moore said he wanted a shot at Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano. Manager Charlie Johnston discussed future possibilities Thursday with Truman Gibson of the International Boxing club. Nothing concrete came out of the talks. They will meet again early next week in New York.

Moore now must be considered a top heavyweight challenger," said Gibson.

"I expect to talk to Al Weill (Marciano's manager) in New York Tuesday to see what he has in mind."

Neville High Hosts Cage Tourney Opening Here Today

Six Games Billed For Initial Show At Bengals' Gym

Six games serve to launch the Neville High School Basketball Tournament here today, and eighteen teams are scheduled to see action in the event before the champions are crowned tomorrow night.

Neville's own boys, undefeated in 29 consecutive contests will have a chance to run their string to 32 straight provided they can go all the way, but the Bengals are promised some stiff competition, particularly if they gain the finals with the Calhoun High Chiefs who, led the Tigers to a 55-53 finals victory in the Ouachita tournament two weeks ago.

The Ouachita Lions and the Weston quintet open the tournament in a 1:30 appearance this afternoon at the new Neville gymnasium. Before today's show is over boys' teams of Louisiana Training Institute, Start, St. Matthew's, Gibsland, Rayville and Neville will have made their initial appearances of the meet along with girls' teams from West Monroe, St. Matthew's, Rayville, and Neville.

The tournament schedule is as follows:

Boys

Friday — Ouachita vs. Weston, 1:30 p.m.; L.T.I. vs. Start, 3 p.m.; St. Matthew's vs. Gibsland, 5 p.m.; Neville vs. Rayville, 7 p.m.

Saturday — Cloutierville vs. Ouachita-Weston winner, 10 a.m.; Calhoun vs. L.T.I.-Start winner, 1 p.m.; Fairview Alpha vs. St. Matthew's-Gibsland winner, 3 p.m.; semi-finals, 4 and 5 p.m.; consolation, 7 p.m., final, 9 p.m.

Girls

Friday — St. Matthew's vs. West Monroe, 4 p.m.; Neville vs. Rayville, 8 p.m.

Saturday — (semi-finals) Neville-Rayville winner vs. St. Matthew's-West Monroe winner, 12 noon; Start vs. Bolton of Alexandria, 2 p.m.; consolation, 6 p.m.; final, 8 p.m.

Both A. L. Smith Teams Advance In Sterlington Play

In the Sterlington Lions Club Junior High School basketball tournament last night, the Bonita girls eliminated Logtown, 22-18, in the first game; the Holly Ridge boys rolled over Linville, 47-18; and A. L. Smith girls defeated the Holly Ridge sextette, 32-26.

High scorers for the A. L. Smith hostesses were Elsie Phillips, with 14, and Ella Faye Beasley, with 13. The A. L. Smith starting lineup, which played a bangup game from start to finish, consisted of Sarah Jordan, Elizabeth Cathey, Pat Brunson, Wanda Garrett, and the two leading scorers.

In the final tilt of the evening, the A. L. Smith boys downed the Bonita five, 40-33. Johnny Blake and Billy Roach were high for the winners, with 18 and nine points respectively; and Ben Tatum and Herbert Johnson paced the losers, with ten and eight points.

In this evening's games, the Linville girls face the Calhoun sextette, at 5 p.m.; the Logtown boys play Calhoun's five at six; Neville s girls meet Transylvania at 7 p.m., and the Winnsboro boys meet Transylvania at 8 o'clock.

Cards Purchase Hollywood's Ace Chunker, Walsh

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 29 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals Thursday bought right-hander Jim Walsh, top pitcher last season for the Hollywood club in the Pacific Coast League.

Purchase price for Walsh was not announced but the deal was described as conditional—the Red Birds pay Hollywood part of the total amount to try out the hurler and will pay the rest if they decide to keep him.

Manager Eddie Stanky said he would go off the Cardinals' active list to make room for Walsh.

"I played in only 17 games last year," Stanky said at his Fairhope, Ala., home. "I feel that Walsh can help our club, either as a starter on in relief.

Infielder Stanky started his major league career with the Chicago Cubs in 1943. He played with the Brooklyn Dodgers, Boston Braves and New York Giants before he became player-manager with the Red Birds in 1952.

Walsh had 16 victories and 9 defeats with Hollywood in 1943 and an earned run average of 3.13.

The sale was arranged at Los Angeles between Bob Cobb, president of the Hollywood Stars, August A. Busch Jr., president of the Cardinals, and John L. Wilson, executive vice president of the Red Birds.

Walsh was a relief hurler with the Pittsburgh Pirates during parts of 1948 and 1949 and all of the next two years. In 1952 he had a 10-9 record with Hollywood.

Tech Cagers Top Spring Hill Five By 74-69 Margin

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 29 (AP)—Sinking 24 of 25 free throws and shooting accurately from the floor, Louisiana Tech led all the way to defeat Spring Hill in basketball Thursday night 74-69.

Forward L. C. Norris, who missed the last free throw of the game to spoil the Red Raiders' perfect foul shot record, led both teams in scoring with 29 points. He accounted for almost half of his team's field goals.

Spring Hill outscored Louisiana Tech by two buckets from the floor but was able to flip in only 15 free tosses.

Jim McGuire with 20 points was Spring Hill's high scorer.

Louisiana Tech	18	24	10	22—74
Spring Hill	17	15	17	20—69

FREE THROW KING

BATON ROUGE, La. — Captain Benny McArdle currently leads his Louisiana State basketball teammates in accuracy from the foul line. The 5-10 senior guard has connected on 26 of 32 free throws for an 81 percent mark.

The Scoreboard

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK—(NEA)—A poll named Ben Hogan as as the Athlete-of-the-Year. Hogan unquestionably is the the greatest precision golfer who ever lived, but is a golfer an athlete?

Ever see a golf professional sidle up to the mahogany after a tough round or match to down a few bourbons? Hogan is a chain smoker of cigarettes.

Is a golfer an athelete comparable to, say, Wisconsin's All-American fullback, Alan Ameche? Imagine Rocky Marciano tapping out a cigar butt on a ring post before lashing himself into battle.

Writers covering golf tournaments run out of superlatives describing Hogan. Someone called Bantam Ben courageous, and the word has since found its way into every story about the winningest Irishman ever to come out of Dablin, Tex. Inasmuch as he did pull himself out of a near-fatal automobile wreck and return to win repeatedly the Royal and Ancient's most coveted prizes, the word befits him.

But did you ever see a golf ball snap back at a player? It isn't a rule that a pro must fight a putter to the death in a struggle around 18 holes. There is a rare possibility that he might wrench an ankle stepping into a gopher hole. He might catch pneumonia wading into an inch-deep brook to retrieve a ball.

It's true that Hogan moves about on wobbly pins, but he got them in the auto crack-up, not from the flashing spikes of a competitor.

A golfer doesn't even have to hit a darting ball, as in table tennis. The ball is stationary.

Golf calls for coordination, of course but a golfer requires no more agility than Johnny Mize had at 40. There is no body contact, no having to slide into the second baseman or shortstop in an effort to break up a double play.

A jockey doesn't need further exercise after working horses in the morning and riding five or six races in the afternoon. Jockeys have been killed or maimed in being thrown from or falling off thoroughbreds.

If sports writers are going to look to golf as a source for their nominations for Athlete-of-the-Year, they shouldn't neglect the Willie Hoppes of billiards, the Junie McMahons of bowlings and the Cornelius Shields of dinghy sailing. They must be gifted with certain skill the same way Hogan is, to be better than anybody else at bashing a defenseless little ball about a course.

Yet Ellsworth Vines, the old fireballer of tennis, and Joe Louis compare golf to their sports, and find that golf kills them because they have to do everything themselves.

"In tennis, the ball moves, and you're loose," explains Elly Vines. "Your nerves back up on you in golf."

Golf is a game of nerves and concentration, and if that makes a man an athlete, Ben Hogan is one and then some.

Polly Riley, Dot Kirby Eliminated In Miami Meet

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—Mary Lena Faulk and Marlene Stewart, two of the favorites, won first round matches easily Thursday, but two other top golfers, Polly Riley and Dot Kirby, were eliminated from the Helen Lee Doherty Amateur Golf Tournament.

Miss Faulk, the Thomasville, Ga., girl who holds the National Amateur title and who won here the past two years, ousted Miss Riley, the southern champion from Fort Worth, Tex., 4 and 3.

The slender Georgian wasn't particularly satisfied with her game, however, and immediately adjourned to the practice tee and green for some polishing work.

"I didn't play too well," Mary Lena said. "I had a couple of real bad holes, the sixth and 10th, but otherwise I just stuck pretty close to par."

Miss Faulk couldn't find the range on those two holes and went two over par on each.

Miss Stewart, British women's champion from Fonthill, Ontario, beat Helen MacDougall of Saskatchewan, 5 and 4. After missing a short putt to lose the first hole, Marlene dropped a five-footer and evened the match on No. 4.

Then on Nos. 6 and 7 she uncorked beautiful chip shots from about 30 feet away and both times stopped within two feet on the pin. Her 37 was even women's par on the front nine of the 6,190-yard, par-75 Miami Shores Country Club course.

Miss Kirby, long a big name among the amateurs and former holder of the National and Doherty titles, lost to young Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, 5 and 4.

"I haven't been playing much lately," Dot said, "and I couldn't seem to get started. My putting was pretty bad, but so was my whole game, at least on the front nine. I started playing better on the back nine, but it was too late then."

Only two of the 16 championship flight matches went the full 18 holes. Two local golfers scored the most lop-sided victories. Grace DeMoss Smith of Coral Gables and Peg Cirino, also of Coral Gables, beat Mrs. Stanley Emerson of Dayton, Ohio, and Maureen Riley of New Castle, Pa., respectively, by identical 7 and 6 scores.

Mrs. Smith was co-medalist at par 75 with Cookie Swift of Great Neck, L. I. Cookie disposed of former Alabama champion Bee McWane of Birmingham, 4 and 3.

Second round and quarterfinal matches will be held Friday. The semifinals will be held Saturday and the 36-hole final Sunday.

Giants Sign Four Hurlers In Effort To Build Pitching

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)— The New York Giants Thursday signed four pitchers—Charlie Fowler, Pete Modica, John McCall and Mario Picone—who are important factors in plans to rebuild the pitching staff.

Fowler, 23, comes out of the army where he did considerable pitching, with a chance to become a regular. In 1951, his last season in pro ball, the righthander had a 17-9 record at Jacksonville.

Modica is a veteran minor leaguer, 30, who came up with a screwball last year at Nashville where he had a 9-5 record. McCall, only lefthander of the quarter, spent most of his career in the Boston Red Sox organization. The 28-year-old fast ball pitcher won 12 and lost seven last year at San Francisco. Picone, 27, is getting another chance to make the grade. He had a 14-8 season with the Minneapolis farm last year.

Logtown Juniors Split Twinbill With Calhoun

LOGTOWN, La., Jan. 29 (Special)—The Logtown Junior High School cage teams split a twinbill with the Calhoun Juniors here Thursday night; the Logtown girls winning, 27-9; and the hometown boys losing, 24-6.

For the girl winners, Christine Telano was high with 11 points; Eveline Arrant had eight; Armadine Miller, four; and Lavonne Epinette and Carol Shipp scored two apiece.

For the Calhoun sextette, Wanda White was high, with five.

Outstanding on defense for the Logtown girls were guards Avis Patton, Doris McCaa, Irene Dupree, Nita Scott, and Lucille Brooks.

High point man for the Calhoun boys was Dewey Wilder, with ten. Teammate Aulds, with eight, was next for the winners. Hulon Carkeet was high for the losers, with four points.

Miksis Becomes 25th Cub Player To Ink Contract

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (AP)— Eddie Miksis, 27-year-old second baseman, Thursday became the 25th Chicago Cub player signed for 1954.

Miksis, who came to the Cubs from the Brooklyn Dodgers early in the 1951 season, last year played in 142 games, his tops for one major league season, and batted .251.

Miksis, from Burlington, N. J., disclosed he will marry Rose Marie Volovage, 23, Philadelphia, on Feb. 6. Miksis was the only holdover bachelor from the 1953 Cubs.

Lions Absorb First AA Defeat At Byrd, 55-39

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 29 (Special)—The Ouachita Lions lost their first AA cage game of the season here Thursday night, falling before the undefeated Byrd Yellowjackets, 55-39 at the Centenary gymnasium. In the Junior Varsity preliminary, Byrd also won, 41-36.

The Lions outscored the Byrd five in the second period by two points, but never headed the strong winners, who had their best quarter in the third, when they chalked up 18 points to Ouachita's seven.

Larry Barnes, ace Ouachita veteran, was high-point man for the game, with 17; and forwards Cunningham and Kyler paced the Byrd attack with ten apiece.

Johnson, Aiming For Moore Title, Ready For Slade

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—Harold Johnson, everybody's No. 1 challenger to Archie Moore, isn't going to take any chances against fifth-ranked Jimmy Slade Friday night at St. Nicholas Arena.

"I know I can beat Moore in 15 rounds," said Johnson. "I beat him one out of four and the others were close. But they were all 10 rounders. I just know I can beat him in 15. Archie is a good fighter but just give me a chance."

Johnson has been screaming for a title shot for over a year. The 25-year-old Philadelphia Negro has beaten Ezzard Charles, Nino Valdes and Bob Satterfield during his current nine - fighting winning streak.

He beat Slade on a unanimous decision a year ago, also at St. Nick's. The slick-boxing Johnson was just too clever for the ever-willing Slade first time they met.

This is the regular Friday night radio (ABC)-television (NBC) show starting at 9 p.m. over the 10-round route. As in all New York fights, the round system of scoring will be used with a supplementary point system.

Johnson's record is eye-catching. In 50 fights he has won 45, and lost five. The only time he was stopped was in 1950 by Jersey Joe Walcott, who also beat Johnson's father back in 1936.

Castellani, Durando Dated For February

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—Rocky Castellani of Luzerne, Pa., and Ernie Durando of Bayonne, N. J., will meet in the 10-round main event at Madison Square Garden Feb. 19.

It will be the third meeting between the two middleweights. In 1950 Castellani won by decision, and in January, 1952, Durando won by a kayo when the bout was stopped in the seventh round.

Last Americans Take Losses In Aussie Tourney

SYDNEY, Jan. 29 (AP)— The last two American challengers, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., were eliminated Thursday from the Australian National Tennis Championships.

An All-Australian final was assured when Mervyn Rose outlasted Seixas, Wimbledon champion, 8-6, 9-7, 9-11, 6-4 and Ken Rosewall defeated Richardson 6-3, 6-4, 7-5 in the quarter-finals.

John Bromwich, the 35-year-old former champion who upset Tony Trabert of Cincinnati Tuesday, outsmarted fourth-seeded George Worthington, 3-6, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1. In the other quarter-final, Rex Hartwig eliminated 17-year-old Ashley Cooper, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

British 'Save' Pirie From Trip To America

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP)— A British paint firm came to the aid of Britain's floundering athletics Thursday and "saved" Gordon Pirie from having to go to America.

Distance runner Pirie told newsmen he has accepted a salesman's job from the paint firm—plus an automobile—and beginning March 1 will have the time he needs to train and prepare for track and field meets. Until then he will keep his job as a suburban bank clerk.

On Jan. 1 Pirie allowed the news to leak that several American colleges had offered him track scholarships and he intended accepting one and moving to the United States, "possibly permanently."

Later a friend of Pirie's said two of the colleges were Georgetown and the University of Oklahoma.

Virgin Island Team Invited To Tourney

WICHITA, Kan., Jan. 29 (AP)—An invitation for the Virgin Island champion to compete as U. S. territorial representative in the 1954 National Non-Pro Baseball Tournament was extended Thursday.

The National Baseball Congress said it sent the invitation to Fernando T. Corneiro of Charlotte Amalie, its commissioner for the Virgin Island baseball.

SERVICE COSTS UP

The most significant trend in the outlook for family living costs for the year ahead is the increasing cost of services, according to Dr. Gertrude Weiss of the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture. The costs of medical care, public transportation, some utility rates, laundry and cleaning, domestic services and urban rents have increased recently more than have the prices of many commodities families buy. Many commodities had their price rise in previous years, she explains.

Some of the chemical compounds necessary to living things have been produced in a miniature atmosphere such as the earth must have had in its primitive days when life first dawned on the planet.

'One Who Knows' Will Be With Army Of Women

Just one year ago tonight, along with over two thousand other volunteer mothers in Ouachita Parish, Mrs. B. A. Hay, of 1002 Montgomery Street, West Monroe, was setting out on a crusade. She was one of hundreds of thousands in this country who accepted the challenge of the most dreaded child-killing, child-crippling disease man has suffered in modern times.

Mrs. Hay was one of the fortunate ones who had never heard those two terrifying words, "Diagnosis: Polio." Her three children, Bert, 10, Alice, 9, and Jeanette, 6, were marching with her.

Persons wishing to contribute to the Mothers' March on Polio are urged to turn on porch lights at 7 p.m. tonight. Workers will then visit every lighted house. Promptly at the appointed hour sirens will be sounded throughout the Twin Cities and Ouachita parish.

She was thinking, as perhaps even the children were, that only one hour was a very small thing to give to the cause of stopping the toll that polio was taking among our children. She was thinking, too, how happy she was to have a part in such a stirring, dramatic undertaking, especially in view of the hope that a vaccine against all three strains of the polio virus was just around the corner.

The drive over, school over, summer begun, the Hays took a vacation trip to Ft. Smith, Ark. They returned on July 9, and Jeanette after a vacation trip. The next day, however, Jeanette was in a local physician's office because she also had a sore throat and a burning fever.

Diagnosis: Polio.

The Hays were not among the fortunate ones any more.

It was after midnight when Mr. and Mrs. Hay reached the polio center in Shreveport, where they were told to take their youngest child for treatment. It was a nightmare of days later that they learned that although Jeanette had paralytic polio, she would be able to walk again.

Tonight, Mrs. Hay and her three children are again a part of the Mothers' March on Polio. Jeanette has had long months of treatment and long, tedious hours of exercises to strengthen her left leg.

Her knee is still stiff, and she must avoid becoming chilled, damp, or over-tired, but she has been hoarding her strength so that she might be able again to do her part toward the ultimate goal of all those marching tonight against polio. That goal is the complete eradication of polio as a disease.

Mrs. Hays said today, "Before my marriage, I worked as a nurse trainee with polio victims in Shreveport. I knew what we were facing with Jeanette, and I have known for years that something must be done to prevent this terrible thing. I believe that the people here will want to help prevent it, and I know that when my children and I start out tonight, every porchlight in our block will be turned on, so that we will be welcome to stop for a contribution to the Mothers' March on Polio."

Upper Class Students To Be Advisers

RUSTON, Jan. 29 (Special)—Twenty-seven upper-class students of Louisiana Tech will serve as advisers to first-term freshmen entering the college here on Tuesday, Feb. 2.

Evans (Bubber) Wyly of Delhi, Student Senate representative, announced the following list of students who will aid the beginners in starting their college work:

James Hooper, Rodessa; Bobby Joe Gryder, Rayville; Dan Hardy, Shreveport; Willie Stevens, Urbana; Ronnie Lewis, El Dorado, Ark.; Jack Bennett, Quitman; Mannie Badon, Thibodeaux, and Ragan Sutton, Ruston.

The advisers, as well as registration assistants, will register from 8-9 a.m. on Feb. 2, and beginning freshmen will enroll on that day from 1-2 p.m. Other students will register by numerical order on Feb. 2-3.

Franklin Cattle Men Elect 1954 Assoc. Officers

WINNSBORO, Jan. 29 (Special)—The Franklin Parish Cattlemen's Association elected officers for the ensuing year at a recent meeting.

M. A. Dailey was elected president; George V. Cotton, vice-president, and Ike Drouet, secretary-treasurer. Outgoing officials who served the organization during the past year were Carey Kincaid, president; M. A. Dailey, vice-president and George V. Cotton, secretary-treasurer.

Principal speaker at the meeting was Dr. Paul B. Brown of L. S. U. who spoke on the experiments being made on the different kinds of food to carry cattle through the winter months.

Delegates named to attend the annual state meeting of the Louisiana Cattlemen's Association which will be held at Alexandria February 18 and 19, included M. A. Dailey, Ben Boughton, J. A. Lewis, Carey Kincaid, George V. Cotton, Ike Drouet, G. A. Luno and E. B. Butler.

Veterinary Meet Set On Campus Of State University

Dr. H. H. Baur and other local veterinarians will attend the 23rd annual veterinary medical conference at L. S. U. February 2 and 3. Headquarters will be in Pleasant Hall on the university campus.

It is stated that major livestock diseases that are a scourge in other parts of the world might be introduced to this country by enemy agents in event of bacteriological warfare. This possibility and plans how to best meet it, will be discussed at the convention.

Out of state speakers at the conference wil linclude Dr. F. S. Schiedy, of Philadelphia, who will discuss use of antibiotics in veterinary practice.

Franklin, La. To Get Carbon Plant

FRANKLIN, La., Jan. 29—UP—Columbian Carbon Co. disclosed plans Friday to construct a $3 million oil process carbon black plant here, with construction scheduled to begin next month.

C. E. Kayser, president of the company, said the application for permit to construct the plant has been filed with the Louisiana State Conservation Department.

Natural gas from nearby fields and liquid petroleum from Gulf Coast refineries will be used as raw materials.

After the plant is built, about 75 workers will be needed.

Columbian will be the third major carbon black company to locate in the Franklin area since 1951.

Officers Named By Ruston Loan Assoc.

RUSTON, Jan. 29 (Special)—At a recent meeting the Ruston Building and Loan Association named officers for the coming year.

Norman McDonald was named president; W. A. Marbury, vice-president; Roy Fraser, secretary-treasurer.

The above men, who served last year in the same offices, were chosen by shareholders of the association.

Building Permits

The following building permits have been issued by city building inspector S. H. Awl:

Joel A. Montgomery Construction Co., to erect a one-story prefabricated residence at 800 South 8th Street in the Ouachita Cotton Mill 2nd Addition at a cost of $6,000 to be built by the owner.

J. Peyton Parker to move a store building from 801 Breard Street to 113 Powell Street at a cost of $50.

Interment followed in the Wilhite cemetery under the direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home of Farmerville.

Miss Tidwell is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Tidwell; one brother, Eugene Tidwell, and two sisters, Mrs. Naoma Patrick and Mary Frances Tidwell, all of Downsville.

BARBARA CHRISTINE MORRIS

Funeral services for Barbara Christine Morris, 3, were held at St. David's Episcopal Church in Rayville at 3 P. M. Friday with Rev. John M. Allin officiating. Burial was in Bethel Cemetery near Holly Ridge under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home of Rayville.

She is survived by her father and mother Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Morris of Rayville and one brother Michael Morris of Rayville and by his grandmother Mrs. Elizabeth Weingartener of Rayville.

Barbara Christine died in a Monroe Hospital after several weeks illness.

C. D. A. Planning Benefit Turkey Dinner Sunday

The Catholic Daughters of Monroe are sponsoring a turkey dinner to be served between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Sunday, January 31, in St. Matthew's Catholic School cafeteria.

Tickets can be had in advance from members or by calling Mrs. Sidney Jeffrion, 3-8891.

A large attendance is anticipated and the money received will be devoted to a good Catholic cause.

Resignation Of Gray As Head Of Conway Accepted

Dr. C. P. Gray, Jr., superintendent of E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital, said Thursday that he had submitted his resignation to the Department of Institutions asking that he be relieved of his present duties not later than March 1.

The Department of Institutions announced that it had accepted Dr. Gray's resignation.

Exchange Club Views Film On Civilian Defense

Members of the Monroe Exchange Club saw a film on civilian defense at the weekly meeting held in the Frances Hotel Thursday noon. Guests of the club and presenting the interesting film and talk were Mrs. George Foreman and Mrs. Dave Agnew, active workers in the movement.

Mrs. Agnew, who was introduced by Exchangite B. D. Sims, talked on civilian defense, its needs and prerequisites. The speaker also discussed the work which is and will be handled through the local headquarters, located at 400 Stone Avenue in Monroe. This particular headquarters, Mrs. Agnew pointed out, serves the entire Fifth Congressional district, with individual parish headquarters working under the local one.

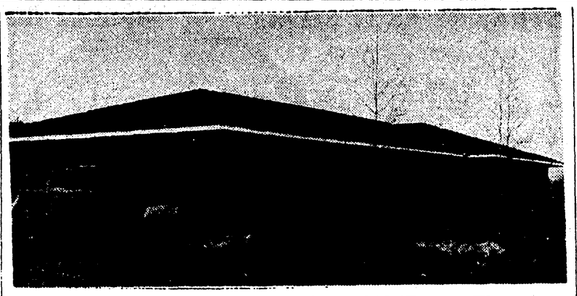
In other action the club appointed Sims chairman of crime prevention week, which will begin February 14. This special event is sponsored by the club and has become an annual project of the members.

Guests of the club were Theo Terzia, Jr., and Carl Slakter.

The anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Miller was also recognized.

OKLAHOMA SALES TAX DROPS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 29—UP—Sales tax collections dropped for the fourth straight month in December, the tax commission reported Friday. It said receipts were 2.8 per cent lower than in December, 1952, with payments totaling $3,287,018.



50,000,000TH ELECTRICAL CUSTOMER — The new A. J. Lester home on Hicks street, West Monroe, was named today as the 50,000,000 electrical customer. Current in the new home was turned on Thursday at 12:10 p. m.

West Monroe Home Named 50,000,000th Electrical Customer

A. J. Lester of Hicks street, West Monroe, was named the nation's 50,000,000th electrical customer, it was announced today by A. O. Evans, manager of Louisiana Power & Light Company's northern division.

Current in the new Lester home in the Mauldin tract subdivision was turned on yesterday afternoon at 12:10 p. m. According to estimates by the Edison Electric Institute, trade association of electric light and power companies of America, service would start for the nation's 50,000,000th electrical customer between 12 and 1 p. m. Thursday January 28, local time. Some 600 new customers were expected to be connected throughout the country during that hour.

The local utility company made the occasion the first Louisiana Power & Light Company community observance of light's diamond jubilee, this year's celebration of the 75th anniversary of Edison's invention of the incandescent lamp in 1879.

To mark the occasion, Mr. Evans presented the Lesters with a certified floor lamp. Making the presentation, he pointed out that in addition to possibly being the nation's 50,000,000th customer, Mr. Lester was customer No. 185,000 for the Louisiana Power & Light Company.

"It is a significant co - incidence that the 50,000,000th customer should be reached during the year of light's diamond jubilee," Mr. Evans said. "The jubilee celebrates the tremendous progress our nation has made through electricity, and nowhere has that progress contributed more than in the American home."

According to Mr. Evans, the nation's electrical customers are increasing at the rate of about 100,000 a month, more than four-fifths of them being residential customers. The local utility company's own 150,000th customer was reached in March 1951 and the 200,000th is expected by the latter part of 1955.

"It is interesting to note," Mr. Evans stated, "that it required 37 years for the electric industry to connect its first 10 million customers, but the last 10 million were achieved within six years. This illustrates the rapid growth of this dynamic industry."

GOV. ROBERT F. KENNON

Kennon Will Be Special Guest At Alumni Meet

Gov. Robert F. Kennon will be one of the special guests at the annual meeting of the Fifth District Louisiana State University Alumni Association, slated to be held Tuesday night at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club. The meeting will get under way at 7:30 p.m.

The Ouachita Parish chapter is playing host to alumni association members from throughout the Fifth Congressional district.

Approximately 300 persons are expected to attend the meeting which is the maximum allowed by the available space. Well over 200 tickets had been sold late Thursday, with the remainder expected to be sold by late Saturday. Members having tickets include C. D. Blalock, Rowland Brown, Judge Howell Heard, Mike John, Jr., Vernon Dunn, J. J. Joyce and Walter Schubert.

The meeting is open to all ex-students whether they completed schooling at L. S. U. or not and to wives and husbands of the university's alumni members.

Other outstanding guests expected to attend the meeting include Lt. Gov. C. E. "Cap' Barham, General Troy Middleton, president of L. S. U., T. B. Heard, athletic director, Coach Gaynell Tinsley and T. K. McKnight, secretary of the student body. Judge John Hood of Lake Charles, president of the state alumni association, will also be in Monroe for the event.

Open House To Be Held Sunday In New Parsonage

Members of the First Baptist Church are enthusiastically looking forward to Sunday afternoon when an opportunity will be extended all friends to visit the new parsonage at 1303 Hilton Street.

Mrs. Tom Davis, Mrs. Richard Drew and Mrs. Saul Adler, who compose the courtesy committee, have completed arrangements for the occasion, and with the pastor, Dr. James T. Horton, Mrs. Horton and their son, James Taylor, and other members of the congregation, will extend hospitality between the hours of 3 and 5:30.

During the period of anticipated friendly fellowship, visitors will be directed through the home, which is perfect in every detail, and the pride of the membership.

SORRY, IT'S SOLD

IF YOU'RE A "home-hunter," you've probably heard the above expression before ... so, read the following description and call for appointment to see this "pace-setter" before we tell you "sorry, it's been sold!" This is a home richly endowed with note-worthy features ... such as: 3 bedrooms (one has double closets & built-ins) ... a bath-and-a-half; the home is on a corner lot; It also has a 12'x20' breezeway opening out of the kitchen; the laundry room has washer plumbing, dryer wiring and plumbing for an extra water heater if needed; the hall is lined with floor-to-ceiling closets and last, but not least ... it's just been completely re-decorated! It's located at 322 Stewart in W. Monroe.

IT'S RIDICULOUS!

NO . . . NOT the house, but rather just the whole idea of paying rent when such a small ($1300) down payment buys such a large 16-room home in such good shape. 6th yr. old condition. Among the 1138 sq. feet of living area are these impeccable features: a 24' x 14' living room with an unusual fireplace; separate dining room; a novel kitchen with loads of cabinet space, utility closet with 30-gallon heater; copper plumbing throughout; 2 spacious bedrooms & a 10' x 15' paneled den on back which can be either a den or bedroom; auto. attic fan and floor furnace! It's a once-in-a-lifetime buy and located at 1612 South Fourth.

NAGGING WIFE?

HAS THE "little lady" been after you lately to make that all-important move from a rented home into a home of your own? If so, and you've lacked the necessary down payment, how's this! A matchless 2-bedroom home, located at 701 "K" St. on a 75'x150' foot corner lot with the following fashionable features: excellent taste in wallpaper throughout; gleaming hardwood floors; 48" attic fan with timer switch and large floor furnace with thermostat; double garage and side screened porch on the east side; delightful (14' x 16') kitchen with an abundance of wood cabinets. AND THE BEST FEATURE OF ALL . . . only $608 down to a qualified GI makes the move. Make the first move and look today.

POOR JOE!

HAD HE KNOWN, he would have never left his family and gone to Siberia! He was a struggling young man with 3 kids, but no matter how hard he struggled, he could never raise the $1500 to $2000 down payment usually required for a 3-bedroom home. Had he just known that for only $950 down, he could have moved his family into this comfortable 3-bedroom home with its floor furnace & 42" attic fan . . . its hardwood floors . . . its disappearing stair to attic . . . its outside aluminum awnings . . . and its 1004 sq. feet of floor space. So don't pull a "POOR JOE," take a "gander" at 1009 ARK. ROAD today.

Fancy Footwork Mark Of Dulles' Adversary

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles long ago paid a high professional compliment to Vyacheslav M. Molotov, the Russian foreign minister.

Molotov, he said, was quite a diplomat, one of the best.

And Molotov, whose name means hammer, isn't letting him down, now that the two men are meeting in Berlin with two other foreign ministers, Britain's Anthony Eden and France's Georges Bidault.

As soon as the conference gong sounded Monday Molotov began throwing left jabs. His footwork was pretty good. He was a faster counterpuncher. And today, near the end of the first round, he wasn't even sweating.

The Big Three had tried for six months to pin Molotov down to what the diplomats call an agenda: a 1, 2, 3 list of things to talk about when and if they got together.

If he agreed, the Big Three would have him pinned in a corner: once the meeting began, he'd have to stick strictly to the agenda. The rules would be laid down.

Molotov wouldn't buy the agenda idea. What he said was: if we're going into the ring, we'll make the rules when we get there. Since the Big Three wanted to see him, they agreed: no agenda before they started.

What Dulles, particularly, had said he wanted to talk about was unification of Germany and an Austrian peace treaty. It was no secret he didn't want the Russian to succeed in softening up the French any more on the single European army idea. The United States is relying on that army in the defense of Europe.

When they climbed into the ring Monday the four ministers had an understanding: Bidault, Eden, Molotov and Dulles would all talk the first day, in that order.

Bidault and Eden were polite. But Molotov wasn't at all. He attacked the United States for its defense plans, said West Germany couldn't be trusted to rearm, as the United States urges, and talked about the need to cut down on armaments.

Then he laid down an agenda of his own and asked the Big Three to accept it. They should, he said, discuss in this order:

"Measures for reducing tensions in international relations" and meeting of the four of them with Red China in the spring; the German question; and a peace treaty for Austria.

To get things going, the Western Allies accepted. But Dulles called off the speech he had ready for that day. That night he rewrote his speech.

The next day he peppered the Russian. That didn't bother Molotov much. The Big Four began considering the items on the agenda, starting from the beginning.

Right off Molotov made a big pitch to bring Red China into a future conference, meanwhile making eyes at the French with a hint maybe if they played ball with Russia, Russia could manage to end their war in Indochina.

Dulles blistered him again, and the Red Chinese in the bargain. Finally Molotov was willing to stop talking about China—for a while at least.

If the Big Three sighed with relief at that and thought — "now we can get down to cases and talk about Germany. No. 2 on the agenda"—they were caught flat-footed.

Unusual Picture Set Sunday At 1st Methodist

An unusual picture will be shown Sunday night at the First Methodist Church, at the "Friendly Hour" service at 7:30 p.m. when "They Too Need Christ," will be presented.

Telling the story of evangelism and missions among the Latin Americans, this is one of the latest and best religious films.

The Commission on Missions will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the Warner classroom prior to the picture.

Clyde Beatty Will Bring Back Old, Old Institution

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Clyde Beatty is bringing back a venerable but faded American institution—the circus parade.

Many Americans can remember the thrill of sitting on a curb and watching the wonderland of the circus march down the main street of town. In the past decade or two, that experience has been denied youngsters.

"We haven't had a parade for 12 years," said Beatty, circus operator and greatest of the wild animal trainers. "But this year we're going to try it. I got the idea when we staged a parade while we were filming 'Ring of Fear' in Tucson. The people seemed to love it.

"I've got some old circus wagons at our winter quarters in Deming, N. M., and I'm getting them out and painting them. We'll pull them with our jeeps or arrange for trucks in each town. The rest of the show is well equipped for a parade. We have a calliope and the animal cages have rubber wheels.

"Adding the parade will cost around $500 a day, but I figure it will be worth it. The publicity will certainly help, and it's an excuse to let the kids out of school early in the afternoon. Merchants of the towns we play are eager for it, because it brings in business. In fact, some towns in California won't grant us a permit to play unless we put on a parade."

The Beatty circus will move out of winter quarters March 20 for another season of thrilling children of all ages. Beatty didn't say whether it would be his last year before the big cats, but he did admit he was thinking about retiring. Although he looks much younger, he is 51 and says that it will soon be time to quit.

"I'm not as fast as I used to be," he admitted. "My wife has been putting the pressure on for me to get out of the ring. She'd like me to quit right now."

The trouble is in finding a successor. Many brave souls have applied for the job, but none seems to qualify.

"I was a cage boy for two years before I ever got to handle the animals. But kids today don't want to bother with all that work. They want to be stars right away."

Luther A. Jones, Tigerette Chief, Speaker At Club

The Civitan Club, at its Thursday night meeting in the La Casa Tearooms, was entertained and instructed by Luther A. Jones, who has charge of the Tigerettes at Neville High School. He was introduced by Prof. Lanier Thompson, program chairman, and also member of the faculty at Neville High School.

The speaker told of his duties which have been crowned with the greatest of success, the group he manages being today well known beyond the borders of Louisiana.

Lest the speaker fail to give himself deserved credit for work performed, Professor Thompson, paid a glowing tribute to the speaker in his introduction.

Besides the speaker, other guests at the luncheon were William E. McDowell, also on the Neville faculty, and Earl Stovall.

J. E. Peters presided as president.

Ant Hills In Africa Gives CAA Trouble

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 —UP— The Civil Aeronautics Administration is on its toes when it warns pilots about the hazards of landing in strange places. That includes looking out for ant hills in the wilds of Africa.

The hills that little ants make apparently set pretty big in Africa. Anyhow, the NCAA's instructions for landing at Komatipoort are that the pilot should have a sharp eye out—for ant hills.

A leaflet given to all pilots who may use Komatipoort airport says that, although a native caretaker is running around like crazy knocking over ant hills, the ants act like bees and are as busy as. They can built a big hill in no time at all and are a menace to a three-point landing.

Still in South Africa—at Parys—cattle have a habit of eating lunch on the grass runways. The airport folks have at least partly solved that by requiring that the town clerk be advised of the expected time of arrival for all planes so that the cows and their young may be shooed off the field.

The CAA aviation safety division every couple of weeks publishes what it calls the "airman's Guide."

It is an around-the-world operation. Lions have a habit of napping on one field in Africa. A lion in the path of a plane landing at 125 miles an hour could cause something horrible. Worse than an ant-hill, maybe.

And even in this country, disaster lurks on the paved strips. Deer sometimes like to gallop up and down the runway. At Duluth, Minn., pilots occasionally are advised to "drag" the field before landing—that is, fly low over them —to scare off the innocent critters.

But getting back to Africa. There is a port there called "Uitenhage," where the strips are 60 feet wide.

Advice to pilots is that "owing to the presence of moles, caution will be needed when the runways are used during or after heavy rains."

And at a strip known as "Vereeniging," pilots are reminded that: "Owing to circumstances beyond his control, the license holder cannot at all times insure that the landing terrain will be free of unauthorized persons or cattle."

State Gets More Time To Fight Negroes' Suit

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A suit filed by four Negroes seeking admission to Southwestern Louisiana Institute at Lafayette, scheduled to be tried today before a three-judge federal court, was postponed until February to give the state more time.

The suit was filed by Clara Dell Constantine, Martha Jane Conway, Charles Vincent Singleton and Shirley Taylor, all of Lafayette. They attacked legality of the state constitutional provision calling for separate Negro and white schools.

They said they were denied admission to SLI although they met all entrance requirements. They asked for an order restraining the school from refusing Negroes who have necessary requirements.

The court was composed of Circuit Judge Wayne Borah and District Judges Ben Dawkins Jr., and Edwin Hunter.

TWO IN RACE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 29—UP —The field of candidates for governor of Oklahoma stood at two Friday, with Frank Coe of Oklahoma City the latest entrant. Coe, 50, lost to Gov. Johnston Murray in the 1952 run-off primary. State Sen. Raymond Gary, Medill, announced earlier for the post.
